Chloe Bliss Stebbins Fund.

ESTABLISHED 1897.

This is a contribution of three hundred dollars, made by Solomon Bliss Stebbins, of Boston, from money given to him by Chloe Bliss Stebbins of Wilbraham, said sum to be held by the town as a memorial of her regard for its association with her long life dwelt therein, and in which she died Feb. 20, 1897. The income of the fund is to be paid annually, one-third to the overseers of the poor for the relief of the poor of the town ; one-third to the managers of the town library to aid in its support, and one-third to secure perpetual good care of the graves in the town burial ground of Eber and Elizabeth Bliss Stebbins, and their children, buried in the same range.

JASON BUTLER,
HENRY CLARK,
F. W. GREEN,
Selectmen of Wilbraham.

Abner E. Bell Fund.

North Wilbraham, Mass., Dec. 3, 1901.

Received from the town of Wilbraham the sum of forty dollars, the same being in full for land damage awarded by the County Commissioners, June 25, 1901, by reason of relocation of highway in North Wilbraham in their decree dated April 3, 1901. The amount to be deposited in some savings bank in trust for the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell, the interest to be paid annually to said Abner E. Bell during his life by reason of his life tenancy in that portion of the late Henry Cutler's estate. At his decease the principal to revert to the town of Wilbraham for the use of the Public Library according to the terms of the will of the late Henry Cutler.

F. A. FULLER, { Trustee of the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell.

North Wilbraham, Mass., Dec. 23, 1901.

I have this day deposited the sum of forty dollars in the Springfield Institution of Savings in the city of Springfield, Book No. 158877, as trustee for the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTION.

The town having voted to pay the tuition at the Wesleyan Academy for high school instruction of such children as are duly qualified, the following regulations have been adopted:

1. Examinations shall be given by the Wesleyan Academy to those candidates only who are recommended by the Superintendent of Schools.

2. No candidate shall be recommended by the superintendent for examination unless he has satisfactorily completed in course or by examination the studies of the "Course of Study" for the public schools of Wilbraham.

3. Examinations shall be given by the Wesleyan Academy in Arithmetic, English, Grammar, Geography, United States History, and Spelling.

4. All who shall pass these examinations shall receive from the Superintendent of Schools a certificate which shall entitle the person named therein to tuition at the expense of the Town of Wilbraham, in the Wesleyan Academy in the Academic, Classical, Industrial Science, or Latin Scientific Courses.

5. All students educated at the expense of the Town of Wilbraham in the Wesleyan Academy shall be under the rules and regulations of that institution.

Report of Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Board of Wilbraham:

GENTLEMEN: The plan of work and the methods employed have not materially varied from those of last year. The teachers for the most part have labored faithfully but the conditions in several of our schools are such that the best results are impossible.

In most of the rooms the ages of the pupils vary from five to fourteen years making discipline difficult, while the number of recitation periods is so large that it is impossible to give sufficient time to any one. In the attempt to give each pupil his proportionate share of the time all are defrauded.

The program in use in one of the schools shows the number of exercises and the amount of time devoted to each with no allowance for unavoidable interruptions incident to the care of children. If a teacher made suitable preparations for such a program there would be no time in the twenty-four hours for sleep or recreation.

Order of Exercises, Mile-Tree School, Winter 1901–2. Teacher, Miss Bertha M. Twitchell.

*Drawing, Wednesday.

While this is perhaps the worst the others vary only in degree. The fact that no dissatisfaction is expressed does not prove that the results are good but rather that the possibilities are not generally apprehended.

Consolidation seems to be the only economical and effectual remedy. Dr. Harris, United States Commissioner of Education, says: "It has been frequently demonstrated and is generally conceded that it would be better both on economical and pedigogical grounds to unite the many small and weak schools of a township, dispersed over a large extent of territory, into a few strong, well-equipped and well conducted graded schools located at convenient points."

Recognizing the advantages of consolidation, Massachusetts as long ago as 1869 enacted a law whereby any town might raise or appropriate money for conveyance of pupils, and many other states now have similar laws.

Mr. G. T. Fletcher, agent of the Board of Education, cites many instances where the plan has proved successful.

The following are quoted: "In the year 1893, Seymour Rockwell, the veteran school man of Montague, said: 'For eighteen years we have had the best attendance from the transported children; no more sickness among them, and no accidents. The children like the plan exceedingly. We have saved the town at least $600 a year. All these children now attend a well-equipped schoolhouse at the centre. The schools are graded; everybody is converted to the plan. We encountered all the opposition found anywhere, but we asserted our sensible and legal rights and accomplished the work. I see no way of bringing the country schools up but to consolidate them, making them worth seeing; then the people will be more likely to do their duty by visiting them.'"

"Consolidation was begun in Concord in 1879. 'Prior to that time and for many years afterwards there was a rapid diminution of school population in the outlying districts. Of late the school population of these districts has increased. We attribute this to the willingness of young married people to settle on these farms since transportation secures to their children educational opportunities as good as the town provides. Consolidation, begun as an experiment, was carried to completion, at the desire of the population affected.'"

"From another town: 'Once when a man wished to sell his farm he advertised, "A school near." Now he advertises, "Children conveyed to good schools." Farms sell more readily now.'"

But the town of Warwick has perhaps derived the greatest benefit from consolidation. In the sixty-fourth Annual Report of the Board of Education, Mr. Fletcher says: "Six years ago Warwick maintained 9 schools 24 weeks per year. Now all the pupils are in 3 rooms of one modern well-lighted, heated, ventilated building, pleasantly situated in the centre of the town. The rooms are supplied with good blackboards, and with books and appliances for the use of the pupils. The school has 3 teachers, normal school graduates of exceptional ability. The school year is 36 weeks. Special teachers of music and drawing visit the schools each week. Pupils are conveyed to the centre union school from distant parts of the town.

The schools are well graded from lowest primary to highest grammar, three classes in a room. Teachers are selected whose qualifications are especially adopted to the ability and needs of the pupils under their charge. The number of recitations being less than in ungraded schools the teachers and pupils do much more effective work. The relation of the teachers to one another is one of mutual helpfulness and the association of so many pupils in the school rooms and on the grounds under the supervision of the teachers is pleasant and beneficial.

"As a result of consolidation and a wise administration of affairs, the town has, in six years, lengthened the school year 50 per cent, increased the wages of the teachers 75 per cent, and employed special teachers of music and drawing without materially increasing the school tax of the town. Because of the reduction of the number of schools through consolidation, the cost of instruction by the regular teachers has been greatly lessened."

Some advantages of educating children in classes composed of members of their own age may be seen in this district. Eight years ago the course of study and the methods of teaching in the adjacent town of Ludlow, where most of the pupils in the higher grades attend the village schools, were identical with those of Wilbraham. Now a pupil fitted for the Academy here must spend the better part of a year in preparation for the high school there and the same is true of pupils moving from this town to Longmeadow or to East Longmeadow where we fit for Springfield high, proving that it takes nearly a year longer to do a given amount of work in the public schools of Wilbraham than it does in some of the other towns of this district. Dr. Newhall has declared the need of a preparatory class and the desirability of higher standards of admission to his school.

We are supporting 12 schools with a total membership of 253 pupils and an expenditure of $3620 for salaries alone.

Glendale is too remote for conveyance to be practicable and the primary rooms in Numbers 2 and 4 might well be continued. The latter should then receive all the little children from Numbers 1 and 3. The other nine schools should be united into three or, at most, into four, where the children would receive more attention and far better instruction than is possible under the present system.

As the cars pass the North Wilbraham building and the number of pupils is larger there than in any other section, that seems to be the place where the schools should be centralized. The present building could be converted into one containing four rooms. Where conveyance by the cars is impossible covered wagons under the care of responsible drivers should be furnished and the teachers should be directed to see that the children are started from the schools as comfortably clothed as when they left their homes. One teacher should be in attendance during the noon hour.

No data at my command can be given whereby the cost of transportation from Numbers 1, 3, or 4, or the expense of care and heating can be estimated but the salaries here are $25.50 per week.

In Numbers 6 and 2 advanced there is an enrolment of thirty-four pupils. The salaries are $16.50 per week. The Springfield and Eastern electric road, on application from the superintendent of schools, will furnish transportation for half price, viz: five cents a day per pupil, making a total weekly cost of $8.50 for these two schools, which subtracted from the amount paid for salaries alone will give a gain of $8 per week or $288 a year.

The objections will be many but unless this town differs from nearly every other similarly situated an experience of a few years will prove that the difficulties are far outweighed by the advantages of better health, more constant attendance, and superior instruction.

Unless plans for the consolidation of schools can be consummated before the opening of the next fall term a large sum should be appropriated for repairs.

Four of our buildings need large expenditure. Several of the others need a considerable outlay to place them in as good a condition as the average building in the other towns of this district.

Your attention is called to the report of music and to the usual statistics.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY L. POLAND.

Report of Supervisor of Music.

When music was resumed in the town schools after a break of one year, various conditions were found to prevail. In a few instances the teachers had taken pains to keep the children interested in the subject, and to prevent them from losing what they had already gained; in others the music had been kept up to a certain extent; and in some cases it was dropped altogether, half the number of teachers having been changed during the intervening twelve months. As a result of all this the supervisor of music has had quite a problem to solve. In this she has been greatly aided by faithful and efficient teachers, who have done all in their power to assist in the work.

There are now four grades in music besides a "Preparatory Grade." These are distributed as follows:

2	schools	Prep. Grade and Grade I.
1	"	Grade I.
3	"	Grades I and II.
1	"	Grade II.
2	"	Grades I and II.
2	"	Grades II and III.
1	"	Grade IV.

Prof. S. A. Weaver's system of time teaching has been introduced, also his Individual Sight-singing Method. Both these innovations are already producing encouraging results.

Both teachers and pupils would be glad to have parents and friends visit the schools and see the work that is being done there.

A number of Normal Music Course Second Readers have been purchased for the highest grade, and all have been supplied with Weaver's Individual Sight-singing Method.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY E. HOWARD, Supervisor of Music.

Abner E. Bell Fund.

North Wilbraham, Mass., Dec. 3, 1901.

Received from the town of Wilbraham the sum of forty dollars, the same being in full for land damage awarded by the County Commissioners, June 25, 1901, by reason of relocation of highway in North Wilbraham in their decree dated April 3, 1901. The amount to be deposited in some savings bank in trust for the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell, the interest to be paid annually to said Abner E. Bell during his life by reason of his life tenancy in that portion of the late Henry Cutler's estate. At his decease the principal to revert to the town of Wilbraham for the use of the Public library according to the terms of the will of the late Henry Cutler.

F. A. FULLER, { Trustee of the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell.

North Wilbraham, Mass., Dec. 23, 1901.

I have this day deposited the sum of forty dollars in the Springfield Institution of Savings in the city of Springfield, Book No. 158877, as trustee for the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell.

F. A. FULLER.

Chloe Bliss Stebbins Fund.

ESTABLISHED 1897.

This is a contribution of three hundred dollars, made by Solomon Bliss Stebbins of Boston, from money given to him by Chloe Bliss Stebbins of Wilbraham, said sum to be held by the town as a memorial of her regard for its association with her long life dwelt therein, and in which she died Feb. 20, 1897. The income of the fund is to be paid annually, one-third to the overseers of the poor for the relief of the poor of the town; one third to the managers of the town library to aid in its support, and one-third to secure perpetual good care of the graves in the town burial ground of Eber and Elizabeth Bliss Stebbins, and their children, buried in the same range.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTION.

The town having voted to pay the tuition at the Wesleyan Academy for high school instruction of such children as are duly qualified, the following regulations have been adopted:

1. Examinations shall be given by the Wesleyan Academy to those candidates only who are recommended by the Superintendent of Schools.

2. No candidate shall be recommended by the superintendent for examination unless he has satisfactorily completed in course or by examination the studies of the "Course of Study" for the public schools of Wilbraham.

3. Examinations shall be given by the Wesleyan Academy in Arithmetic, English, Grammar, Geography, United States History and Spelling.

4. All who shall pass these examinations shall receive from the Superintendent of Schools a certificate which shall entitle the person named therein to tuition at the expense of the Town of Wilbraham, in the Wesleyan Academy in the Academic, Classical, Industrial Science, or Latin Scientific Courses.

5. All students educated at the expense of the Town of Wilbraham in the Wesleyan Academy shall be under the rules and regulations of that institution.

Report of Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee of Wilbraham:

GENTLEMEN: The customary annual report of the schools is herewith presented.

Since the last report was written I have made eighty-one visits in the schoolrooms and conducted a number of meetings for teachers.

The selection and appointment of teachers form an important part of the work assigned a superintendent, and much time and care have been devoted to these duties.

RESIGNATIONS.

School 3	Miss Bertha Twitchell,	June, 1902,	Teaching in Grafton
School 4	Harriet Tracy Ross,	Dec., 1902,	Teaching in Quincy
School 4	Elsie Martin,	July, 1902,	Teaching in Quincy
School 6	Miss Lizzie Calkins,	Nov., 1902.
School 6	Miss Prue A. Haley,	Dec., 1902.
School 7	Miss Martha Bowdish,	June, 1902,	Teaching in No. 3
School 7	Miss Prue A. Haley,	Nov., 1902.
School 8	Miss Elsie Leavitt,	June, 1902.

In my last report I endeavored to show you some of the adverse conditions under which our teachers and pupils were laboring.

The difficulties to which I then called your attention have been obviated, in part, by uniting all the pupils of grades eight and nine under the care of one teacher, where they receive much personal attention and are given all the work they are capable of doing.

The number from each school represented in this union is as follows:

School No 2	1
" 8	6

Making a total of sixteen in the two upper grades.

The six girls of grade six, from school No. 8, are also seated in this room.

The transferred pupils have not only been benefited by this union, but their conduct has generally been a credit to their parents and and their presence helpful in the school which they attend. To my mind the change has been a decided advantage to the entire body of school children in the town.

At the present time we have nineteen students in the Academy, five in Palmer high school, and a total membership of two hundred forty-one in the public schools. Nine of the latter are in the ninth grade preparing for examinations in June.

During the year, Nichols' arithmetics have taken the place of Prince's, the Quincy Word List has been introduced as a spelling book, and Frye's old geographies have been exchanged for his new editions.

Unsanitary conditions made changes in the Stony Hill school building imperative, and more than half the entire appropriation for repairs was expended in absolutely necessary work on the building in East Wilbraham.

True economy suggests immediate attention to the other school houses, and the comfort and health of teachers and pupils demand an expenditure far larger than the usual appropriation.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY L. POLAND.

Report of the Supervisor of Music.

As we look back upon the work of the past year a distinct advance may be seen in the line of music. The interest taken in the subject by both teachers and pupils appears to increase rather than diminish as time goes on. The individual training as exemplified by the Weaver method has proved successful, as it has wherever faithfully followed, and its educational value to the pupil, especially in the line of independent effort, has been marked. This method of teaching is particularly adapted to schools having several grades in one room, those prepared for it being able to advance, while at the same time the more backward children are obtaining the required drill.

Our aim is to teach independent sight-singing. When our school children can read music of ordinary difficulty as easily as they can the daily papers, there will be no question as to the musical future of our country. After they have "learned to read," it follows naturally that they will "read to learn" the best music which the past and the present have to offer. The schools of the town combined to furnish acceptable music for the Decoration Day services held in the Congregational church.

The schools are graded in music as follows:

Grades Prep. and I	Three.
Grades Prep. and III	One.
Grades I and III	Two.
Grades I and IV	One.
Grades II	Two.
Grades II and IV	One.
Grades IV	One.
Grades V	One.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY E. HOWARD, Supervisor of Music.

ABNER E. BELL FUND.

North Wilbraham, Mass., Dec. 3, 1901.

Received from the town of Wilbraham the sum of forty dollars, the same being in full for land damage awarded by the County Commissioners, June 25, 1901, by reason of relocation of highway in North Wilbraham in their decree dated April 3, 1901. The amount to be deposited in some savings bank in trust for the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell, the interest to be paid annually to said Abner E. Bell during his life by reason of his life tenancy in that portion of the late Henry Cutler's estate. At his decease the principal to revert to the town of Wilbraham for the use of the Public Library, according to the terms of the will of the late Henry Cutler.

E. W. WALL, { Trustee of the Town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell.

The sum of forty dollars is deposited in the Springfield Institution of Savings in the City of Springfield, Book No. 158,877.

E. W. WALL.

CHLOE BLISS STEBBINS FUND—ESTABLISHED 1897.

This is a contribution of three hundred dollars, made by Solomon Bliss Stebbins of Boston, from money given to him by Chloe Bliss Stebbins of Wilbraham, said sum to be held by the town as a memorial of her regard for its association with her long life dwelt therein, and in which she died Feb. 20, 1897. The income of the fund is to be paid annually, one-third to the overseers of the poor for the relief of the poor of the town ; one-third to the managers of the town library to aid in its support, and one-third to secure perpetual good care of the graves in the town burial ground of Eber and Elizabeth Bliss Stebbins, and their children, buried in the same range.

THE HIRAM DANKS CEMETERY LOT FUND — ESTABLISHED 1903.

This is a fund of one hundred dollars, left by the will of Hiram Danks, the income only of which to be paid to the treasurer of the town of Wilbraham for the perpetual care of the Hiram Danks burial lot in Wilbraham cemetery.

The large number of tardy marks demands serious attention.

These marks are nothing in themselves and we care nothing about them, except as they stand for indifference or distracted attention on the part of the offender and an incorrect sense of proportion in the home, and it is true that the habitually tardy child gives evidence of these conditions.

To my mind, the school, which is the children's workshop, will never occupy its proper place in his thinking, so long as his parents give it a secondary position in the management of the household affairs. If they hurry the wage earner that he be not a moment late in store or factory, and leave the chores to be dallied over, or apportion so much work to the child that he cannot reach school in season, his interest will wane and the value of the school will inevitably deteriorate.

It will be remembered that in past years, I have pointed out the impossibility of thorough work by a superintendent, when so large a portion of time must of necessity be spent in getting from one place to another.

The state had long recognized the fact that this district was large enough to form two, and was even more than twice the size of some in the commonwealth, but no plan which did not involve the division of some town could be devised.

Last winter Tolland and Sandisfield appealed to the state for some town, or towns, to unite with them in the formation of a district and it was suggested that they, the adjoining district of Agawam, Granville and Southwick, and our five towns would form three districts of tolerable size.

This plan was accordingly adopted and ratified in the April meeting and the dissolution of the old and formation of the new unions went into effect, July 1.

This change has given Wilbraham a larger proportion of time and has brought to view many weak places which had heretofore been unsuspected, or, for lack of time, allowed to pass without correction. In fact, this year has been in some ways, a revelation to me and, in the light of a better acquaintance, some changes have been effected, while others are under contemplation.

At present, the most important question before us is that of a separation of the more advanced from the younger classes and the union of the former under one or more teachers.

Several years ago, before we abolished the custom of admitting unpaid assistants into our schools, for observation of methods and for training, we had, in the school in North Wilbraham, a young woman who had proved her ability and given promise of becoming an efficient teacher.

The principal needed help and so, for a time, the recitation periods were divided and we had two teachers at work in the same room.

The next term, the room was separated into two parts, by a slight partition, and this assistant was hired to take care of the younger classes. Two or three pupils from No. 3 were advised to join the ninth grade here and the results seemed to prove the advisability of the experiment. Apparently the money of the town was more wisely expended by a combination of parallel classes, under one teacher, than by a division among several teachers, each of whom must defraud younger children in order to accomplish the work.

I believe that when boys and girls have reached the last two or three years of their public school life, it is better, for all concerned, that they be separated from the primary classes and pursue their studies with those of their own age, under the care of a teacher specially trained for the upper grades.

In other towns where these measures have been tried, the results have justified these conclusions.

Last year the higher grades were required to attend school in North Wilbraham, but the accommodations were insufficient for the larger classes of this year and an appropriation for an enlargement was called for.

The conditions remaining unaltered, the following questions are submitted for your consideration and decision :

(1.) Will you abolish grading, relinquish the plan of separating primary and higher grades, and remand the latter to their home schools? or

(2.) Will you enlarge the schoolhouse at No. 8, making suitable and convenient arragements in three separate rooms for the primary and intermediate classes of that village, and also for the three upper grades from other parts of the town? or

(3.) Will you provide suitable accommodations for the children in No. 4 and vicinity by the erection of a new three or four room building, and make equally convenient arrangement for pupils in North Wilbraham, by erecting a new or enlarging the old building?

The first proposition is possible and can be worked out. Large and small children were formerly united under one teacher and can be again, but, of course, an inferior quality of work and a longer time for the present amount must be expected.

It will probably be impossible to secure as good teachers as we now have. Untrained, inexperienced girls are now rapidly disappearing from the schoolrooms of Massachusetts and teachers of successful experience or graduates from colleges and normal schools are taking their places.

The latter are usually unwilling to go into ungraded country schools and invariably refuse to remain in them any length of time. Deterioration in the teaching force and inferior scholarship in the classes will undoubtedly result from an affirmative disposal of the first question.

The times seem ripe for progress, but the interests of parents and of taxpayers are involved and these matters should be laid before them for consideration and decision.

By act of the legislature of 1903, the annual income of the Massachusetts school fund is to be apportioned and distributed for the support of public schools in towns within certain valuations, provided these towns comply with all laws concerning this distribution.

In anticipation of this additional income a sum, largely in excess of the amount expended for like purpose in many years, has been paid for wall maps. A single glance at some in use before this purchase will convince the most skeptical of its necessity. Quite a large number of readers which had never been used have been exchanged for recent publications; the medial system of penmanship has been adopted, and our old Lessons in English and English Grammars have given place to Southworth's two-book series.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY L. POLAND.

Report of the Supervisor of Music.

The progress of music in our schools during the past year has been steadily onward and upward. Necessary changes among the teachers have naturally affected the work to a greater or less extent in some cases, but the results as a whole are satisfactory.

A regular graded course has been followed as closely as possible, some license in regard to its exact following having been allowed in schools containing an extra number of grades or where special work in other lines seemed necessary.

Particular attention has been paid to laying the foundations of music study thoroughly, and helping the child who is not naturally musical. When an interest in and love for music are awakened the rest will follow as a matter of course.

The results of public school music are more evident every year. Especially is this seen by those who have occasion to prepare the children for public exhibitions where music figures on the program. Last summer a choir of school children furnished the music for the M. E. Church during the vacation months.

Music as taught in our schools is not a recreation, a mere learning of songs, something to be dropped when school days are ended, but a practical training which will bring lifelong pleasure and profit.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY ELIZABETH HOWARD,

Supervisor of Music.

ABNER E. BELL FUND.

North Wilbraham, Mass., Dec. 3, 1901.

Received from the town of Wilbraham the sum of forty dollars, the same being in full for land damage awarded by the County Commissioners, June 25, 1901, by reason of relocation of highway in North Wilbraham in their decree dated April 3, 1901. The amount to be deposited in some savings bank in trust for the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell, the interest to be paid annually to said Abner E. Bell during his life by reason of his life tenancy in that portion of the late Henry Cutler's estate. At his decease the principal to revert to the town of Wilbraham for the use of the Public Library, according to the terms of the will of the late Henry Cutler.

E. W. WALL, } Trustee of the Town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell.

The sum of forty dollars is deposited in the Springfield Institution of Savings in the City of Springfield, Book No. 158.877.

E. W. WALL.

CHLOE BLISS STEBBINS FUND—ESTABLISHED 1897.

This is a contribution of three hundred dollars, made by Solomon Bliss Stebbins of Boston, from money given to him by Chloe Bliss Stebbins of Wilbraham, said sum to be held by the town as a memorial of her regard for its association with her long life dwelt therein, and in which she died Feb. 20, 1897. The income of the fund is to be paid annually, one-third to the overseers of the poor for the relief of the poor of the town; one-third to the managers of the town library to aid in its support, and one-third to secure perpetual good care of the graves in the town burial ground of Eber and Elizabeth Bliss Stebbins, and their children, buried in the same range.

THE HIRAM DANKS CEMETERY LOT FUND—ESTABLISHED 1903.

This is a fund of one hundred dollars, left by the will of Hiram Danks, the income only of which to be paid to the treasurer of the town of Wilbraham for the perpetual care of the Hiram Danks burial lot in the Wilbraham cemetery.

Report of Special Committee on Schools.

After a careful examination of the school expenses for the last twenty years, your committee concluded that a table of expenses, showing increases by five year periods, would be the simplest way to present the facts. These tables are submitted at the end of this report and are taken, as are all our statistics, from the reports of the town of Wilbraham and of the Massachusetts Board of Education. Of this latter we had nothing earlier than 1891.

We find that the increase in expenses has been general throughout the State, as shown by the following figures:

AMOUNT RAISED BY TAXATION EXPENDED FOR SUPPORT OF SCHOOLS.

Wilbraham, 1891—$3,761.34.

Wilbraham, 1903— 5,642.47.

An increase of $1,881.13, or 50 per cent. During the same period expenditures in the County of Hampden have increased 87 per cent, and in the whole State of Mass. 75 per cent.

AMOUNT APPROPRIATED TO SUPPORT OF SCHOOLS FOR EACH ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($1,000) OF VALUATION.

Wilbraham, 1891—$4.10.

Wilbraham, 1903— 6.39.

An increase of $2.29, or 56 per cent. In the same period there has been an increase of 75 per cent for the whole State of Mass.

Your committee was unable to get figures for Hampden County on this matter, but the highest expenditure reported in the state was $9.84 in West Boylston, and the lowest was 84c in Gosnold.

In analyzing the statistics of our own town we find that the largest item of increase is in teacher's wages; of this increase about one-third is caused by additional teachers made necessary by the increasing number of pupils in Districts No. 8, No. 2 and No. 4, by the closer grading of the schools and by changes in the number of pupils in the different districts. The other two-thirds is due to a general rise throughout the state, as shown by the following figures:

AVERAGE WAGES PER MONTH PAID FEMALE TEACHERS.

Wilbraham, 1891—$29.70.
Wilbraham, 1903— 33.87.

An increase of $4.17, or 14 per cent. During the same period expenditures in the County of Hampden have increased 26 per cent, and in the whole State of Massachusetts 13 per cent.

Above figures indicate that Wilbraham is pursuing a rather conservative course and certainly is not extravagant. We also find that Wilbraham is paying less for teachers than surrounding towns of similar circumstances, and as we know it is difficult to retain experienced teachers, we cannot see how this item of expense can be reduced without great detriment to the schools.

Next to teachers' wages we find in books and supplies the largest item of increase, amounting to $2.73 per pupil in Wilbraham, which is considerably more than the surrounding towns and looks high compared with the state average of $1.58. We believe everything essential to the best education of the child should be provided; at the same time it is not well that wasteful habits be acquired in our schools. We, therefore, recommend that the teachers by precept and example strive to inculcate care and economy on the part of the pupils in the use of books and supplies, also, that the superintendent and committee keep as low as possible, without detriment to the schools, the expense caused by changes in text-books, methods and books of reference.

Unless such an arrangement is already in force, we would suggest that the cost of books and supplies would probably be less if they were constantly under the personal care of a teacher or monitor, especially during recreation periods.

We would, however, remind the town that a large part of the money received from the State School Fund is dependent on the equipment of our schools with first-class books and supplies and the employing of experienced teachers.

The increase in expenses due to transportation of pupils has been eliminated.

The town now furnishes high school pupils with books and supplies, still the high school expense is not only normal but much less than in towns providing their own high schools.

The increase in the superintendent's salary was caused by the town of Ludlow leaving this union, as the salary is apportioned according to the number of schools in each town ; Wilbraham pays now about one-third of the whole, and this can hardly be remedied during the continuance of the present union.

Having found some little difficulty in tracing expenses, we would suggest that a form such as was printed in the report of the Town of Wilbraham for the year ending March 15th, 1889, gives details in regard to these matters which might be of interest to the voters of the town.

The repairs on our schoolhouses have been so well planned and executed that for a small sum our buildings present an attractive appearance. It is doubtless the thought of the school committee that the expense for care and sundries shall give to the school rooms an air of refinement that will be an incentive to the pupils and a pleasure to teachers and visitors.

We recommend better daily care of schoolhouses and the paying of more money for such service if necessary, as we believe such a course will save in repairs needed. We recommend that interiors of schoolhouses be kept in a better state of maintenance, more money being expended when necessary for keeping them fresh and clean ; such improvements as hard wood floors, which have been put into some of the buildings, being a step in the right direction.

We recommend that three suitable rooms be provided for the present schools in District No. 8 in a new building. We also recommend that three suitable rooms be provided for the present schools in District No. 4, either by erecting a new building on a new and desirable location, which is available, or by raising the present No. 4 schoolhouse and building an addition thereto, the changes and new buildings being planned to give better light, heat and ventilation wherever required.

Your committee has caused to be prepared drawings and estimates covering these plans, and hopes to present them at the town meeting so that the town can act intelligently in the matter.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTION.

The town having voted to pay the tuition at the Wesleyan Academy for high school instruction of such children as are duly qualified, the following regulations have been adopted:

1. Examinations shall be given by the Wesleyan Academy to those candidates only who are recommended by the Superintendent of Schools.

2. No candidate shall be recommended by the Superintendent for examination unless he has satisfactorily completed in course or by examination the studies of the "Course of Study" for the public schools of Wilbraham.

3. Examinations shall be given by the Wesleyan Academy in Arithmetic, English, Grammar, Geography, United States History and Spelling.

4. All who shall pass these examinations shall receive from the Superintendent of Schools a certificate which shall entitle the person named therein to tuition at the expense of the Town of Wilbraham, in the Wesleyan Academy in the Academic, Classical, Industrial Science, or Latin-Scientific Courses.

5. All students educated at the expense of the Town of Wilbraham in the Wesleyan Academy shall be under the rules and regulations of that institution.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee of Wilbraham:

GENTLEMEN: —

The year just closing has been marked by an unusual number of changes among our teachers.

At the end of the winter term, Miss Elizabeth Wells, elected Aug. 1903, resigned the North Wilbraham primary, and at the close of the spring term or very soon thereafter, we received the following resignations:

		ELECTED.	TERM OF SERVICE.
No. 4	Miss Charlotte Sibley,	Dec., 1902,	5 terms
" 4	Miss Jessie Burnham,	July, 1902,	2 years.
" 5	Miss Stella Greene,	April, 1898,	6 years, 1 term
" 5	Miss Eva S. Morse,	April, 1902,	2 years, 1 term
" 5	Miss Hannah Hammond,	Nov.. 1903,	5 terms
" 5	Miss Mima Smith,	July, 1903,	1 year.
" 5	Mrs. Bertha Burridge,	March, 1904,	1 term

As it had been decided to open a school on Wilbraham Street, for the pupils of grades eight and nine, it became necessary to engage eight new teachers.

The fall term opened with the following corps:

		EDUCATED.	ELECTED.
School No. 1	Mary E. M. Mack,	Wesleyan Academy,	January, 1902
" " 2	Fannie C. Pease,	Westfield Normal,	July, 1903
" " 2	Effie L. Morgan,	Wesleyan Academy,	June, 1901
" " 3	Martha L. Bowdish,	Vermont Academy,	December, 1900
" " 4	Gwendolen M. Jones,	Mt. Holyoke College,	June, 1904
" " 4	Elsie M. Crozier,	Framington Normal,	June, 1904
" " 4	Mabelle Willson,	Bridgewater Normal,	June, 1904
" " 5	Edith Chase,	Bridgewater Normal,	June, 1904
" " 6	Julia M. Connally,	Framington Normal,	September, 1904
" " 7	Hannah L. Conway,	Westfield Normal,	June, 1904
" " 8	Rose C. Smith,	Plymouth, N. H., Normal,	July, 1903
" " 8	Emily A. Talmadge,	Westfield Normal,	June, 1904
" " 8	Ina Ballou,	Westfield Normal,	June, 1904

Six of these were without experience, but they had received the best Normal training, and took up their work intelligently and with enthusiasm.

At Thanksgiving, Miss Conway and Miss Talmadge resigned and their places were filled by Miss Mertie Jenkins, No. 7, Miss Olive A. Wartman, No. 8.

No one can take up new work exactly where her predecessor left it, but each teacher has had a very definite type-written plan furnished her each month from this office, and, taken as a whole, I have never seen the schools of the town in better condition.

We have at present twenty-three (23) town pupils in Wesleyan Academy; nine are fitting for examinations in June; of this number one is at North Wilbraham, and eight are in the room hired from the Academy.

At the beginning of the fall term the Ward method of teaching reading was introduced into the first and second grades of the town. This involved slight extra expense, as our primers and first readers get worn and often need replacing.

The method originated with Edward G. Ward, at that time associate superintendent of public instruction in Brooklyn.

Mr. Ward claimed that his system was a combination of the best which he had observed and seen tested. It was first used in a few schoolrooms under his supervision but is now very generally employed and is in especial favor in Western Massachusetts. While it is too early to make comparisons, we can, at least, affirm for it that which is so well exemplified in our music, namely, the requirements are clearly and definitely stated. The children all over the district are learning the same things and, by the use of the manual, each teacher may know each step in its order and take up new work with small loss of time. Those, who have tested it for years, assert its superiority over all other methods, claiming that children learn to read more quickly, enunciate more clearly, and have greater power to determine new words and thus become independent readers in less time than when taught in any other way.

For nearly twenty years prominent educators have been telling us that the schools were giving too much time to arithmetic and that studies of as much, if not more, value were consequently neglected.

Teachers, makers of text-books, and thoughtful school directors have studied this matter carefully and now agree in excluding obsolete and strictly technical matter, confining the attention of children to fundamental processes and the principles in general use in the outside world.

The following subjects which used to be found in text-books are now omitted: "Jagged fractions" with denominators never used in real life, intricate problems in denominate numbers, compound proportion, permutation, alligation, foreign exchange, and arithmetical and geometric progressions.

Last year the school superintendents in this part of the Connecticut valley devoted much time to the consideration of the essentials of arithmetic, and although there were differences of opinion on many minor topics all were unanimous in the decision that accuracy and rapidity in the four fundamental processes and an understanding of the principles of the most common business transactions should be the specific aims in the teaching of arithmetic.

A proposed course of study, drawn up by a committee chosen for that purpose, was discussed and studied during several meetings and though there may be no superintendent who is implicitly following it, as it then appeared on paper, children are, in all probability, doing about the same work in all the grades in this vicinity.

The combinations of numbers, the four underlying processes, common and decimal fractions, the tables in common use, easy denominate numbers, percentage and the business rules which cluster around it, should be drilled upon until they are thoroughly known.

For the benefit of those who do not have access to the course of study and who could and would effectively aid their children in the home, and to all who are interested in the work of the schools, I give, in part, the work which is now required of each grade.

There is now with us no formal teaching of numbers in the first grade. In the second, teachers are expected to test the children to see how far their ideas of numbers extend. It is rare to find those who do not recognize a group of two objects when placed before them, but children very frequently fail to know the number three. Beginning then with that number they are taught to recognize it as a whole, or as one group, to say "There are three," and then, the two numbers which added make 3, and the numbers which can be subtracted from it, as: $2+1$, $1+2$, $3-1$, $3-2$. When they know these they go on to 4, and learning one fact at a time at length come to know $3+1$, $1+3$, $2+2$, 2×2, $4\div$by 2, $\frac{1}{2}$ of 4.

By the close of the second year, numbers have been studied as far as 20. The emphasis this year is laid on the addition and subtraction facts.

Parents can give most effective aid by daily drilling on the addition of two numbers, one of which is always less than ten, and the sum never more than 20. $9+4$, $8+5$, $7+8$, $9+7$, $8+9$, $12+8$, etc., are difficult, and can never be too well known.

In this grade, numbers containing one figure each are set in columns and added, the sum not exceeding 20; subtraction, with a minuend less than 20 and a subtrahend of one figure; multiplication and division in two forms, as 3×6, $\begin{array}{r}3\\ \times6\\ \hline\end{array}$, and $18\div6$, $6)\overline{18}$, are taught.

Children measure and compare the length of lines, count by twos and fives, learn the Roman numerals to XX, and do simple problems with but one condition, as, I paid five cents for a spool of thread and nine cents for a sponge. How much did both cost? What will a quart of milk cost at three cents a pint?

In the third grade the combinations from 20 to 100 are learned and here the emphasis is given to the numbers which are found as products in the multiplication tables and the facts taught are those which are found in multiplication and division tables.

It would seem that there is a great deal to do in the third grade, but, as the numbers grow larger, the number of facts to be learned about each one grows smaller, as in 36 we would drill on 6×6, 9×4, 4×9, 12×3, 3×12, $36\div6$, $36\div4$, $36\div9$, $36\div3$, $36\div12$, but in 81, only on 9×9 and $81\div$by 9.

With these, as well as in the intervening numbers, like 23, 26, 29, etc., addition and subtraction are practiced and the analogy between $6+5$, $16+5$, $26+5$, etc., is brought out, but we do not dwell upon these as we do upon the facts of the multiplication tables which should be repeated in this and in the two grades next higher, until the mind of the child responds automatically to any question asked from these tables.

$\frac{1}{2}$, $\frac{1}{4}$ and $\frac{1}{8}$ are taught, and pupils learn to add, subtract, multiply and divide fractions having these denominators. They also add columns of two figures when the sum of the units exceeds 10; subtract, when the unit of the minuend is smaller than that of the subtrahend, as 81-27; multiply two figures by one; and divide a number of two or three figures by a divisor less than 10. Easy problems with two conditions are solved. Neatness and accuracy are insisted upon.

The principal work of the fourth grade is in the four fundamental processes with whole numbers. The multiplication tables are memorized and drilled upon daily. Long columns are added; subtraction and multiplication grow more difficult and receive a great deal of attention. Notation and numeration of numbers as far as 1,000,000, the perimeter and square contents of squares and rectangles, the surface and contents of cubes are taught, and ideas of right, obtuse and acute angles are developed.

Fractions with the denominators given in the preceding grade, and thirds, sixths, ninths and twelfths are added, subtracted, multiplied and divided and improper fractions and mixed numbers are reduced. The major work however is in long division, the most difficult subject in arithmetic.

But one difficulty is presented at a time and pupils begin by doing the actual work and not by learning the rule. Until the last of the year, and then but rarely, does the number of figures in the divisor exceed two, or the dividend consist of more three or four figures. That each figure, which is "brought down" from the dividend may have a corresponding quotient figure, the answer is always placed over the dividend and not on its right. This is the form used:

\begin{array}{r}
205 \\
27\overline{)5549} \\
\underline{54} \\
149 \\
\underline{135} \\
14 \text{ remainder.}
\end{array}

—14, or 205 $\frac{14}{27}$ quotient.

The one aim is accuracy and, as every mistake makes others easier and more probable, we endeavor to clear the pathway of all needless difficulties. Nothing is gained by plunging children into work that is too hard for them. Advancement is retarded by discouragement as confidence is acquired by success and as this subject is so complex with its trial quotient figures, its multiplications, sub-tractions, and bringing down of figures, no judicious teacher approaches it until the multiplication tables are mastered, nor hastens to use large numbers when smaller ones will illustrate the subject.

The fifth grade follows along parallel lines but ploughs deeper, reading and writing larger numbers and using these in long division which is emphasized in this grade also. The fractions and problems grow harder.

Decimals, as far as thousandths, are written, added, subtracted, multiplied and divided and by working out questions by means of squares the children learn how to point off and deduce the rules for the same. They here learn the "language" of percentage, that is, they are told that the portion of any object, which heretofore they have called $\frac{1}{2}$, will now be called fifty per cent, $\frac{1}{4}$ will be known as twenty-five per cent, $\frac{1}{3}$ as thirty-three and one-third per cent, and so on, and they apply these in three different cases: (a) What is 50% of 12? (b) 8 is what % of 32? (c) 9 is $33\frac{1}{3}$% of what?

As in the fourth, they learned to find the areas of small squares and rectangles, they now apply the same principles to walls, floors, and ceilings. The areas of triangles are shown to be one-half the areas of squares of equal height, the diameter, circumference, radius and area of a circle are studied, bills and receipts are made out, and the tables of denominate numbers in common use are learned.

In grade six, most of the time is spent on common and decimal fractions and applied problems. Percentage and mensuration are reviewed and extended, the nature and purpose of interest are fully explained and many problems which involve the finding of interest are worked out.

All these require a great amount of drill work and repetition.

In the early part of this year the seventh grade reviews the common and decimal fractions. In the latter part, trade discount, simple interest, promissory notes, custom house business, insurance and simple proportion receive sufficient attention to acquaint the learner with their purpose, but the greater part of the work is in denominate numbers. This involves plain, simple problems in reduction, in the four processes with compound numbers, especially in subtraction of dates and a great deal of practice in measuring floors, ceilings, walls, carpeting, papering, fencing lots, digging cellars and finding contents of piles of wood, etc. Problems now begin to present difficulties, and interest and ambition usually awaken at this time.

Grade eight is occupied with business arithmetic. The topics begun in the seventh are more thoroughly studied here. The new subjects are compound interest, bank discount, and square root. The exercises in compound interest deal largely with savings banks accounts, and children learn the value of small savings by computing interest on sums lying at interest many years.

We aim to give clear ideas of the purpose of insurance but the problem work here amounts to little.

In taxes, the necessity and justice of taxation, the four classes, poll, personal property, real estate and income, the three parts of which each man's tax is made up, the process by which assessments are made and the rate determined are explained and discussed.

The necessity of banks, the business carried on in them, notes, checks and drafts are subjects in which intelligent boys and girls show great interest.

Grade nine continues all these and adds (a) stocks and bonds. Pupils are taught the difference between them and their relative safety. Newspapers are brought in and problems are taken from the market quotations as well as from the text books. (b) Partial payments, using the United States rule and for the most part confining figure work to notes with only one or two payments, each larger than accrued interest. (c) Longitude and time, which are taken in connection with geography, and (d) reviews, chiefly in common and decimal fractions and percentage with its applications.

Throughout the course teachers endeavor to follow these directions given by a prominent Massachusetts instructor. 1. Advance slowly when laying foundations. 2. Advance only one step at a time. 3. Review constantly. They also strive to impress upon their pupils the truth of Andrew Carnegie's conviction, "I do know that permanent success is not obtainable except by fair and honorable dealing, by irreproachable habits and correct living, by the display of good sense and rare judgment in all the relations of human life, for credit and confidence fly from the business man, foolish in word or deed, or irregular in habits, or even suspected of sharp practice."

Report of the Supervisor of Music.

The study of music has been an important factor in our public school life for a number of years, and its educational value is becoming more and more appreciated as time passes. From the first there has been a constant and steady growth in the right direction, and last year was no exception to the usual order of things. What is being accomplished would be more fully realized if parents and friends could visit the schools oftener and see what the children are doing in the line of music.

There are no marked changes to report except among the teachers. While Wilbraham is usually blessed with faithful and competent teachers, it is unfortunate in having to part with many of them after a short acquaintance. This cannot but be a drawback to a certain extent, and of course, music suffers with other studies.

A short outline of the course followed will not be out of place in this report, and may be of interest.

Grade 1. All intervals in first five tones of the scale taught by imitation, dictation, and representation on the staff; quarter, half, dotted half, and whole notes. Grade 2. Scale intervals completed; group of two eighth notes. Grade 3. Dotted quarter and eighth notes; all the intervals of the major scale carefully reviewed. Grade 4. Place of do in the fifteen major keys; down a half step and back; music reader; two part singing begun. Grade 5. Up a half step and back; review of previous work in time and tune. Second Reader begun, and a good deal of two part singing. Grade 6. Simple and compound time and all time signatures; triplets, group of four sixteenth notes, dotted eighth and sixteenth notes; place of sharps and flats in the signature; theory of sharp, double sharp, flat, double flat and cancel. Grade 7. Three part singing; bass clef songs, written work and the Weaver Individual Sight Singing Series No. 1—7, throughout the entire course.

The pupil who has completed the above course should possess a good practical knowledge of the fundamental principles of music which are the foundation of a thorough musical education.

The schools are graded in music as follows:

Grades I, II and III,	Two
Grades I, II, III and IV,	One
Grades I, II and V,	Two
Grades I, III and V,	One
Grades I and IV,	One
Grades I and V,	One
Grade IV,	One
Grade V,	Two
Grade VI and VII,	Two

Town Warrant.

ARTICLE 1. To choose a Moderator to preside at said meeting.

ART. 2. To hear and act on the reports of the Selectmen and Overseers of the Poor, Treasurer, School Committee and other town officers.

ART. 3. To fix compensation of the Collector of Taxes for the ensuing year.

ART. 4. To determine the manner of repairing the highways and bridges for the ensuing year.

ART. 5. To choose Town Clerk and Treasurer, one Selectman for three years who shall be Overseer of the Poor, one Assessor for three years, one School Committee for three years, five Constables, four Fence Viewers, one Auditor, Collector of Taxes for ensuing year, one Library Trustee for three years, one Tree Warden for the ensuing year, all on one ballot; also all other necessary town officers for the ensuing year; also to decide by ballot which shall be Yes or No, the question, "Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this town?"

ART. 6. To see if the town will build a new schoolhouse at North Wilbraham and raise and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 7. To raise such sums of money as may be deemed necessary for defraying the expenses of the town for the ensuing year and appropriate the same and vote how the same shall be raised.

ART. 8. To see if the town will accept the list of Jurors as revised by the Selectmen.

ART. 9. To see if the town will authorize its Treasurer to borrow such sums of money as may be sanctioned by the Selectmen, the same to be paid from the taxes.

ART. 10. To see if the town will provide for the adequate lighting of streets in town.

ART. 11. To see if the town will instruct the Selectmen to prosecute any person or persons selling or transporting intoxicating liquors in this town contrary to the law of this Commonwealth, or take any action in regard to the same.

ART. 12. To see what disposition the town will make of the dog fund of 1904.

ART. 13. To see if the town will grant money for the proper observance of Memorial Day.

ART. 14. To see if the town will appropriate money for the care and winding of the tower clock on the M. E. Church.

ART. 15. To see if the town will provide for special instruction in music and raise money for the same.

ART. 16. To see if the town will take any action to facilitate the collection of taxes, if so to establish the conditions.

ART. 17. To see if the town will vote to instruct the Assessors to publish valuation lists.

ART. 18. To see if the town will instruct its Selectmen to dispose of the Betsy Webster farm, if in their judgment suitable compensation is offered.

ART. 19. To see if the town will instruct their Selectmen to make contracts for electric lighting of the streets in town, providing same can be done at reasonable rates.

ART. 20. To see if the town will vote to have revaluation of all real estate in town and take such action as may be necessary to carry same into effect.

ART. 21. To see if the town will build in the present School District No. 8 of the Town of Wilbraham, a building to be used for a schoolhouse, a town-house, and rooms for town offices, and include a vault for safe-keeping of the books and records of the town as required by law. The vote on this article to be by ballot, yes or no.

ART. 22. To see if the town will vote to raise and appropriate such sums of money as is necessary to build schoolhouse, town-house, rooms for town offices, and vault for the safe-keeping of the books and records of the town.

ART. 23. To see if the town will vote to issue bonds in payment of any town buildings.

ART. 24. To see if the town will provide three suitable rooms for the present schools in District No. 8, by building a new three-room schoolhouse on the old location, or otherwise, and raise and appropriate money for the same. Also, to see if the town will provide three suitable rooms for the present schools in District No. 4, either by securing a new lot and erecting a new three-room schoolhouse thereon, or by raising the present No. 4 schoolhouse and building an addition thereto or otherwise, and raise and apropriate money for the same."

ABNER E. BELL FUND.

North Wilbraham, Mass., Dec. 3, 1901.

Received from the town of Wilbraham the sum of forty dollars, the same being in full for land damage awarded by the County Commissioners, June 25, 1901, by reason of relocation of highway in North Wilbraham in their decree dated April 3, 1901. The amount to be deposited in some savings bank in trust for the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell, the interest to be paid annually to said Abner E. Bell during his life by reason of his life tenancy in that portion of the late Henry Cutler's estate. At his decease the principal to revert to the town of Wilbraham for the use of the Public Library, according to the terms of the will of the late Henry Cutler.

E. W. WALL, } Trustee of the Town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell.

The sum of forty dollars is deposited in the Springfield Institution of Savings in the City of Springfield, Book No. 158,877.

E. W. WALL.

CHLOE BLISS STEBBINS FUND — ESTABLISHED 1897.

This is a contribution of three hundred dollars, made by Solomon Bliss Stebbins of Boston, from money given to him by Chloe Bliss Stebbins of Wilbraham, said sum to be held by the town as a memorial of her regard for its association with her long life dwelt therein, and in which she died Feb. 20, 1897. The income of the fund is to be paid annually, one-third to the overseers of the poor for the relief of the poor of the town; one-third to the managers of the town library to aid in its support, and one-third to secure perpetual good care of the graves in the town burial ground of Eber and Elizabeth Bliss Stebbins, and their children, buried in the same range.

THE HIRAM DANKS CEMETERY LOT FUND — ESTABLISHED 1903.

This is a fund of one hundred dollars, left by the will of Hiram Danks, the income only of which to be paid to the treasurer of the town of Wilbraham for the perpetual care of the Hiram Danks burial lot in the Wilbraham cemetery.

Report of Tree Warden.

There being no appropriation for the purpose, only 18 trees were set on the roadsides this year. The only expense for these was the time digging and setting.

The trimming has also been limited to what has seemed most necessary. Trimming for the good of the trees as well as the passing public should begin this year.

Electric lights have been installed without serious injury to our trees. Anyone noticing a broken tie-off or burning branch should notify the tree warden at once.

Serious injury of several trees by horses was not reported for some time, and I wish to thank the informant and request that any injury or danger to the trees be reported to the tree warden immediately.

The elm beetle was present this year, but did little injury. No gypsy or brown tail moths have been reported in this vicinity as yet.

Every person should learn the appearance of these caterpillars and report their discovery.

Persons living on the state highway should be especially watchful, as the pests are often carried on automobiles passing through the infested districts.

The brown-tail moth caterpillar is orange brown, with a row of white spots along each side of the body, and with two bright red spots at the lower end of the back. The gypsy moth caterpillar is dark sooty gray, marked along the back from the head with a double row of blue spots followed by a double row of red spots.

The need of trees in several localities, the proper care of our trees, and especially the increasing danger from insect pests, causes me to earnestly recommend an appropriation of $100.00 for the planting and care of public shade trees this coming year.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTION.

WILBRAHAM, APRIL 26, 1905.

It being the duty of the town, under the law of the state, to pay the tuition for high school instruction of such children as are duly qualified, the following regulations have been adopted:

1. High school instruction, at the expense of the town, will be given to such children as pass satisfactory examinations.

2. Examinations for high school instruction, at the expense of the town, shall be given to such children only as shall be recommended by the Superintendent of Schools.

3. No children shall be recommended by the Superintendent for examination unless they have satisfactorily completed, in course or by examination, the studies of the "Course of Study" for the public schools for Wilbraham.

4. Examinations shall be given in Arithmetic, English Grammar and Composition, Geography, United States History, and Physiology (after 1905).

5. All who shall pass these examinations shall receive from the Superintendent of Schools a certificate which shall entitle the person named therein to tuition, at the expense of the Town of Wilbraham, in Wesleyan Academy or such high school as may be duly approved by the School Committee.

Report of Committee for Building New School Houses.

In accordance with the vote of the town, new schoolhouses have been built in districts No. 4 and No. 8.

With exception of minor details both of these schoolhouses have been constructed in accordance with plans presented at the town meeting held in March, 1905.

A year ago there seemed to be only one piece of land available for the schoolhouse in district No. 4, but before work was commenced there, it was found that a much better lot could be secured by paying a few hundred dollars more.

The committee voted unanimously to buy this better lot and consider the town fortunate in securing it.

EXPENDITURES WERE AS FOLLOWS:

For new schoolhouse in district No. 8.

Building contract,	$3,836.00
Heating contract,	495.00
Desks, chairs, curtains,	414.90
Plans, specifications, sundries,	133.98
Total,		$4,879.88

For new schoolhouse in district No. 4.

Building contract,	$3,861.00
Heating contract,	459.70
Desks, chairs, curtains,	282.15
Plans, specifications, sundries,	45.50
Lot,	650.00
Total,		$5,298.35
Total for both schoolhouses,		$10,178.23

Report of the Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee of the Town of Wilbraham.

GENTLEMEN:

To you and to the citizens of the town the following report is respectfully submitted.

The distinctive feature of the year has been the erection of two school buildings, one in each village. They are similar in construction and furnishing, each containing three large, well-lighted well-ventilated rooms, slate blackboards and adjustable chairs and desks.

In No. 4, the first four grades occupy the primary room, the fifth, sixth and seventh, the intermediate, and the eight and ninth the grammar, while in North Wilbraham, every seat in the primary is taken by the first three grades and there are three in each of the other rooms.

The pupils of both sections have responded to these improvements, as children invariably do and by painstaking care manifest their appreciation of better surroundings.

A sale of candy made by teachers and pupils was held in each village during the fall, and both were most generously patronized.

The proceeds were devoted to the purchase of the following pictures:

No. 4 Grammar.	(1)—Sir Galahad, by Watts.
	(2)—The Dance of the Nymphs, by Corst.
Intermediate.	(1)—Hope, by Burne-Jones.
	(2)—The Old Windmill, by Ruysdall.
Primary.	(1)—A Distinguishad Member of the Humane Society, by Landseer.
	(2)—The Horse Shoer, by Landseer.

No. 8 Grammar. View in Stratford Upon Avon.
Intermediate. Head of Dog, by Landseer.
Primary. The Divine Shepherd, by Murillo.

The walls in three of the rooms were tinted before the buildings were occupied. The others should receive some neutral tint as suitable backgrounds for the pictures furnished by the exertions of the schools.

The walls in Nos. 1 and 3 should be replastered and tinted, as the appearance of otherwise pleasant rooms is now injured by the discolored plaster around the chimneys.

Two years ago the building in No. 6 and, last summer, those in Nos. 5 and 7, were repaired and are now in good condition.

Since my last report was written one of our teachers has been called to the schools of Wallingford, Connecticut. Three have left us to take positions in Springfield, one to be married, one on account of ill health, one is teaching in Hartford, one in Middlebury, Vermont, and the others are in this state and Connecticut.

The call of one teacher to a better position acts as a stimulus to others and is often an uplift to the entire corps. Promising candidates are much more willing to take positions in a small place if recognition of their merits by other superintendents is probable, and I feel that a superior teacher for a short time is better than an inferior for a longer period. But, happily, the children of four schools realize with an appreciation increasing as the days go by the debt of gratitude they owe the teachers who have been longer with us and we may account ourselves fortunate that we have been able to retain them.

Good teachers are very scarce. Great care is exercised in the selection of those engaged here but we are unable to compete with cities paying larger salaries and offering superior advantages. Days and weeks are spent every spring in the search, for that is the time when the normal schools are sending out their graduates and more changes occur among experienced teachers at the close of the year than at any other time.

During the school year a superior, unemployed teacher is still harder to find and, although we have often been very fortunate, a change at this time is to be regretted and the result is uncertain.

For two years, at the close of each month, I have sent every school a typewritten schedule of work to be done in each class during the following month, giving the teachers to understand that this should neither hinder, nor unduly hasten, the progress of their pupils. The outlines have been suggestive rather than compulsory, that is, any class has been free to exceed the assigned amount and no class has been expected to accomplish more than it could do thoroughly.

This has proved helpful as it has been more definite than the work laid down in the year's course of study and, by it, inexperienced teachers have been able to give to each period of time its due portion of work. Much better results have been secured since this plan was adopted.

WESLEYAN ACADEMY.

The requirements for admission to Wesleyan Academy have been altered and somewhat increased and special attention is called to the page where the new regulations and requirements are printed.

The names of the twenty-eight now in attendance as town students may be found in the report of the committee.

Fourteen are now in the ninth grades fitting for entrance examinations.

Previous to January first, 1906, children who had reached their fourteenth birthday could be employed in shops, stores and factories, but on that date the law of April, 1905, went into effect and many, all over the state, were thrown out of employment on that day.

This law makes sixteen years the compulsory age for all who cannot write legibly and read easy English sentences at sight.

In anticipation of the enforcement the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates maintained an evening school throughout the fall and in compliance, discharged all who could not meet its demands in January.

Three Polish children have thus been enrolled in our schools at "The Pines," where they are taught in classes by themselves, in time taken from the regular school. As they cannot understand our language nor we theirs, their progress is necessarily slow and it will probably take months to bring them up to the standard.

They come here expecting to find work and to gain a livelihood. Through no action of theirs but by the execution of a good law, which will eventually decrease child labor and reduce the importation of illiteracy, they are thrown out of employment, and doubtless, in some case, into actual want.

It is the purpose of the state to hasten their schooling as much as possible and then separate schools, where they may receive the entire attention of the teacher, are recommended. Springfield and Ludlow have opened such schools, but we have deemed it impracticable for so small a number. If either place would admit them, I think it would be economical and humane to place them there that they may more speedily acquire the language and return to their work.

I have again to call your attention to the need of stricter enforcement of the non-attendance law and to the necessity of better care of town supplies placed in the hands of the pupils. I believe children should be required to pay for all willful waste and ill-treatment of books and of all other town property and I urge the importance of so instructing the teachers. A closer attention to these matters would reduce the expense of material.

The year as a whole has been one of good progress, and fair advancement has been made.

In one particular, however, our schools are behind those of the other towns in this district of supervision and of sixteen of the twenty-three towns of the county. I refer to the subject of drawing. This is a study required by law of the state, but in none of our schools is it taught as well as is music, simply because we have a special teacher for the latter and none is employed for the former.

The last report of the Board of Education shows that nearly ninety-seven per cent of the children of the state are taught under the direction of such a teacher. Longmeadow and East Longmeadow have employed one for thirteen years. Hampden has done the same for seven consecutive years. Should not the children of Wilbraham have the same privilege?

The old objection that few can excel in this subject has been so frequently overthrown by experience that it needs no refutation. We do not expect that any will become artists, but neither do we expect instruction in penmanship to produce authors of merit.

In teaching drawing we endeavor to train to close and correct observation, to educate the muscles to respond accurately to the intelligent commands of the brain and to lead to the perception and appreciation of the beautiful in nature and in art.

It may be said that it will not help any child to earn his living. The same may be said of music but both will add very greatly to enjoyment and happiness in after life, and who feels more keenly the need of the light and beautiful than the overworked and heavy hearted?

Besides, it is not true that it will not be of material aid in gaining a livelihood, for "the majority of those who go to our schools are to take some part in the making or shaping or growing of actual physical objects, which can be accurately and clearly described only by drawings and not by words and it is therefore essential that they have some facility in graphic expression, or they will lack the means of securing an intelligent, accurate and thorough understanding of their work in life."

I know of no study of greater ethical value, for here children are led to feel the necessity of absolute truth and accuracy. About right avails nothing in a mechanical drawing. Measurements and lines must be exact in every detail, or they are worthless.

"I do not think its value can be exaggerated, because it gives the means of training the young in attention and accuracy which are the two things in which all mankind are more deficient than in any other mental quality whatever.

I consider there is nothing of so great value as the habit of drawing to secure these two desirable ends."

Respectfully submitted,

MARY L. POLAND.

Report of the Supervisor of Music.

There have been many changes among the teachers during the past twelve months, nine of the thirteen coming to Wilbraham in the fall of 1905 or since that time. Naturally this means a pause in the work while adjustment to new conditions is being made. The new comers have shown themselves responsive to the Supervisor's efforts, and have earnestly endeavored to carry on the work as outlined for them.

Special credit should be given to the four teachers who have been with us the longest, for their hearty co-operation and faithful service. Satisfactory results can only be obtained by the combined forces of grade teachers and supervisor, working together with one end in view.

The new school buildings provide commodious, well-lighted rooms for a large proportion of our school children, and such pleasant surroundings must be an incentive to better work along all lines.

The regular course of study in music, as outlined in last year's report, has been followed as closely as possible. Naturally a school of three grades will make more rapid progress, other things being equal, than one of six or seven. The individual drill, however, gives each child a chance to advance. We know of no other system of public school music so admirably suited as the Weaver method to the great variety of conditions which prevail in different schoolrooms.

Vocal music is now taught as a regular branch of study in all the schools of two hundred and seventy of the three hundred and fifty-four towns and cities of Massachusetts. These two hundred and seventy towns contain ninety-four and five-tenths per cent of all the schools in the state, and ninety-six and eight-tenths per cent of all the pupils.

We quote from a recent "Report on the Teaching of Music in the Public Schools of Massachusetts to the Committee on Music of the State Board of Education" by George M. Martin, sec'y:

"Some members of the State Board of Education have felt that music was one of the essentials of education. They have realized that the ability to hear is as universal a gift as the ability to see, and have noted that, while training is provided in observation and in reproducing impressions created by observation, the wisdom of training the kindred sense of hearing is far less generally admitted. There are members of the Board of Education who believe that the ear has a no less useful office in life than the eye. Through the spoken word, by the living voice, we come into the closest possible communion with our fellows; and when the common elements of sound existing in the world all about us are raised and glorified by the art of music, an avenue of life is open which knows no end. Especially in a materialistic age does the art of music become of great importance, in providing food for the growth of that spiritual life without which a free Commonwealth cannot exist."

Respectfully submitted,

MARY ELIZABETH HOWARD,

Supervisor of Music.

ABNER E. BELL FUND.

North Wilbraham, Mass., Dec. 3, 1901.

Received from the town of Wilbraham the sum of forty dollars, the same being in full for land damage awarded by the County Commissioners, June 25, 1901, by reason of relocation of highway in North Wilbraham in their decree dated April 3, 1901. The amount to be deposited in some savings bank in trust for the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell, the interest to be paid annually to said Abner E. Bell during his life by reason of his life tenancy in that portion of the late Henry Cutler's estate. At his decease the principal to revert to the town of Wilbraham for the use of the Public Library, according to the terms of the will of the late Henry Cutler.

E. W. WALL, { Trustee of the Town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell.

The sum of forty dollars is deposited in the Springfield Institution of Savings in the City of Springfield, Book No. 158,877.

E. W. WALL.

CHLOE BLISS STEBBINS FUND—ESTABLISHED 1897.

This is a contribution of three hundred dollars, made by Solomon Bliss Stebbins of Boston, from money given to him by Chloe Bliss Stebbins of Wilbraham, said sum to be held by the town as a memorial of her regard for its association with her long life dwelt therein, and in which she died Feb. 27, 1897. The income of the fund is to be paid annually, one-third to the overseers of the poor for the relief of the poor of the town; one-third to the managers of the town library to aid in its support, and one-third to secure perpetual good care of the graves in the town burial ground of Eber and Elizabeth Bliss Stebbins, and their children, buried in the same range.

THE HIRAM DANKS CEMETERY LOT FUND—ESTABLISHED 1903.

This is a fund of one hundred dollars, left by the will of Hiram Danks, the income only of which to be paid to the treasurer of the Town of Wilbraham for the perpetual care of the Hiram Danks burial lot in the Wilbraham cemetery.

Report of the Tree Warden.

As Tree Warden for the past year I have done some trimming, mostly in the Adams cemetery, as it was in great need of it. Did some trimming on Main street and the mountain road. I have not done any setting of trees. Whole amount of money expended is $40.75.

AUDITOR'S REPORT.

I have carefully examined the accounts of the Selectmen of the Town of Wilbraham for the year ending February 22, 1907, and find them correct with orders drawn on the Town Treasurer amounting to $14,482.22 with vouchers for all items of their expenditures.

I have examined the accounts of the Town Treasurer and find them correct with books neatly kept. I find all the receipts and payments are reported and with a balance of cash deposited in the Springfield Safe Deposit Co. of $2.57 to the credit of the Town of Wilbraham.

HIGH SCHOOL INTRUCTION.

WILBRAHAM, APRIL 26, 1905.

It being the duty of the town, under the law of the state, to pay the tuition for high school instruction of such children as are duly qualified, the following regulations have been adopted:

I. High school instruction, at the expense of the town, will be given to such children as pass satisfactory examinations.

2. Examinations for high school instruction, at the expense of the town, shall be given to such children only as shall be recommended by the Superintendent of Schools.

3. No children shall be recommended by the Superintendent for examination unless they have satisfactorily completed, in course or by examination, the studies of the "Course of Study," for the public schools for Wilbraham.

4. Examinations shall be given in Arithmetic, English Grammar and Composition, Geography, United States History, and Physiology (after 1905).

5. All who shall pass these examinations shall receive from the Superintendent of Schools a certificate which shall entitle the person named therein to tuition, at the expense of the Town of Wilbraham, in Wesleyan Academy or such high school as may be duly approved by the School Committee.

Subsequently all of these took the examinations and were admitted to Wesleyan Academy and Palmer High School.

At present we are paying tuition for twenty-five students in Wesleyan Academy.

The No. 4 school closed in June with fair promise of as large an attendance in the fall as had been registered in preceding terms, and three teachers, who were to divide the nine grades equally between them, were engaged with that prospect in view. But during the summer a number of children moved from the town, and in the early fall several entered classes in the Academy, thus reducing the enrollment to numbers which did not justify the retention of three teachers.

The breaking of a system, at a time when teachers were doing superior work and children making marked progress, was a measure that was deeply regretted. Moreover, it was hard for teachers, who had been engaged to do a certain work, to be told that there was no longer place for them and that, with no increase of salary, more would be required of those who were retained.

I have to record the kindly spirit with which each accepted the conditions, and, before her own future was assured, with dismissal or harder tasks before her, cheerfully coöperated with us in our efforts to reduce expenditure with the least friction and smallest loss to the children.

In times when demands for less labor and larger pay are frequent, these facts should not go unnoticed and proper recognition of the animus, which almost invariably characterizes our teachers, is certainly due those, who after years of education and training, stand in the community examples which their pupils are too immature to appreciate.

Coming, with each successive year, into closer contact with this class of workers, I have an ever increasing respect and admiration for the courage and ardor which inspire them and I attribute it, in large measure, to the influence of the colleges and normal schools which weed out the incompetent and unworthy and emphasize the value of unselfish service.

The action of the town in its last annual meeting, authorizing the employment of a teacher of drawing, gave to its children the privileges enjoyed by ninety-seven per cent of the school children of the state. Suitable arrangements for such instruction during the spring term were found to be inexpedient, but Miss Ellis, a graduate of Pratt Institute, was engaged for the school year, beginning September, 1906. She visits each school once in two weeks, but by dividing the schools into two parts, she comes into town every week.

At the time of this writing, each class has received nine lessons and creditable progress has been noted.

I deem this study one of the most important branches of our work. As has been repeatedly stated, the drawing of beautiful pictures is not expected, but a practiced eye, which can see objects as they appear, trained muscles, able to obey the intelligent commands of the brain, are results well worthy of large expenditure of time, effort and money.

A person who can work with both brain and hands is well equipped for life's labor, and there is now strong reaction in favor of all forms of manual training.

An awakening interest in agricultural pursuits is a most hopeful feature of the times. For many years, farming communities have suffered from the loss of young people, who have left the places for more congenial pursuits in town or city, and the deserted farms of New England are in part due to this cause. But since skill has lightened much of the heavy work for men and women, and the telephone, the rural mail carrier and the electric cars have made communication with the outside world possible and pleasant, the farm need no longer be a place of isolation and dreary drudgery. Many now find it a place for rest, and thought, and study.

The schools should do their part toward making farming intelligent and pleasing. If they taught something which had visible connection with work left in the morning and resumed at night, they would prove more alluring to many, who now see no relation between their studies and home duties. Every school set in a rural community should be furnished with agricultural reading books and with the leaflets furnished by the State Board of Agriculture, and the pupils should be encouraged to cultivate school and home gardens, doing the work themselves. Nor is this at all distinct from school work as it is commonly understood. We may teach the dimensions of a cord of wood, but they mean something to a boy who is sent out to measure his father's wood pile. Another learns his table of dry measure and recites it glibly, but when he sells a peck of potatoes which he has raised himself, he feels that four pecks make a bushel, and when his teacher turns his English lesson into a letter to the purchaser he takes pains with it and remembers what she tells him.

Work of this nature has been started in one school garden when Mr. B. F. Greene laid before me the plans of "The Young Folks Grain Club," founded by Mr. Myrick, of the New England Homestead. By invitation, Mr. Greene visited several of the schools and was so successful in interesting them that a number of plots were put under cultivation and cared for by the children. In the fall term, after the harvests had been gathered, a part of one afternoon was devoted to little school festivals. Friends were invited and the products of the children's toil were exhibited.

One little girl in No. 2, primary, came bending under the weight of a squash too heavy for her strength, and in her wake, followed a boy, whom she had pressed into service, bringing a still larger product of her industry.

At Glendale, a large and really fine exhibit was made. The children were required to write, describing their preparation of the soil, the testing, germination and sowing of the seed, the care of the plants and the harvesting. Their letters were sent to Mr. Myrick, who published those from Elsie Farr of Glendale and Earl Tupper, of No. 5. He awarded Walter Calkins a prize of one dollar and Milo Green, one of five dollars. These two boys are members of the school in East Wilbraham. With the exception of testing and germination of seeds, all this work was done at home.

In another school, a small but carefully prepared garden was started, where radishes and lettuce were raised and sale of their product was assured. A kind neighbor furnished wire fencing for the cultivated plot, but the young gardeners could not protect the entire grounds and, one vacation day, they found their garden trampled and crops gone.

Somewhat later, by urgent request, Mr. Edson, of Glendale, visited the school at No. 1 and gave a most interesting and valuable talk on the planting of vines and flowering shrubs. A little help from adults in carrying out his suggestions will convert this school yard into a spot of which the whole town may be proud.

I should say less than should be said on this subject if I failed to add that the intermission hours are the danger periods in school life and that gardening and the adornment of public grounds are more profitable than quarreling and less harmful than rough play or other self-directed diversion.

An act of Legislature, becoming operative in September, 1906, requires the testing of the sight and hearing of every child in the schools. Test cards with directions to teachers, record sheets and notifications for parents were issued by the State, and a number of parents have been notified of defective eyes or ears. Each parent receiving these should, for the benefit of his child, take immediate measures to secure relief.

By the same law, the committee are required to appoint a physician, who shall, upon request, examine all cases where suspicion of contagious disease exists, and shall also look after conditions, which in his opinion are injurious to the health of the school. An appropriation for such services being necessary the matter will undoubtedly be presented at town meeting.

The need of such examinations may not be apparent to all, but parents will recognize the necessity of detection of first symptoms, which inexperience often passes by. The expense probably would not be large and the public health would undoubtedly be much improved by such attendance.

In closing, I wish to express my appreciation of the interest always exhibited by Rev. Dr. Newhall, and my sense of the loss we shall sustain, when he leaves his present honored position. To him is due much that has been inspiring and helpful, and we shall suffer by his going and by the separation of his children from our schools.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY L. POLAND.

Report of the Supervisor of Drawing.

Miss Mary L. Poland, Superintendent of Schools, Wilbraham:

The introduction of a course in drawing in the schools this year has been received with such interest by both teachers and scholars that progress has been marked. The time devoted to the subject has been one and a half hours a week in most of the schools. The Supervisor's visits have occurred on days of alternate weeks, and the teachers have carried on efficient instruction between these visits. We counted ourselves very fortunate to receive on the ninth of October, a visit from Mr. Walter Sargent, who was then State Supervisor of Drawing. Mr. Sargent visited four of the schools in the part of a day he was able to devote to us, and gave a lesson in two of the rooms and helpful suggestions in the others. He was much interested and pleased with the attitude of the pupils and saw every reason for the accomplishment of good things.

We are continuing the work as nearly as possible in accordance with his belief that "A course in drawing has a three-fold aim: Ability to draw objects from nature, or from memory and imagination; to make diagrams and working drawings; and to appreciate and use good design and harmonious color." A specific outline with this aim in view is published monthly in the School Arts Book, to which magazine the foremost art instructors of the country are contributors. It has been the method followed to allot different phases of the year's work to different months, and with this idea in mind September and October were devoted to a study of Plant Drawing and Color. The colored pencils supplied were used in the primary and intermediate grades for this work, as they not only gave the children more interest in the subject, but were valuable in teaching them to discern different hues of color. In the higher grades the nature-work was done with lead pencil or brush and ink silhouette, which necessitated careful observation and accurate drawing on the part of the pupils.

By the first of November it was thought best to begin ruler-practice and the making of diagrams, and in all the grades this subject was studied with a view to helping every scholar appreciate the value of painstaking and accurate work in measuring. Also drill was given on facts concerning simple geometric figures as square, oblong, triangle, etc., and terms of position and relation, as horizontal, vertical, diameter, diagonal, etc. We advanced from the very simplest of these terms in the lower grades to the working out with accuracy of simple geometric problems in the grammar grades. The practice of free-hand lettering, which seems to be a subject always of value, was also studied. All this we tried to make effective practice for skill and completeness in achieving a finished result and the knowledge thus gained was given expression in a Christmas constructive problem which might develop the power of observation and creation as well as manual dexterity. The problems chosen were such as could be made from card-board or paper, and in the grammar grade rooms an accurate working drawing was first made of the object. This was followed by the laying out and cutting of the material by the pupils themselves. Of course this required careful planning on their part, and discouraged aimless following of directions. The construction was next considered, and here it was that effective workmanship was evident, and the results accomplished showed skill gained, and an appreciation of neat and accurate work.

In the lower grades the constructive work has been carried on in connection with the drawing in various lessons all through the year. One experienced supervisor of the Manual Arts says, "Childhood is preëminently the time when the child wishes to do things and when his interest in doing should be turned to educative account." Therefore the value of hand-work, that is at the same time brain work, is generally admitted, and in the constructive work we have tried to choose exercises related to other subjects of the course. For example, in some of the rooms we have made from paper miniature wigwams, to illustrate the stories of Indian life which the children were studying, and at Thanksgiving time we tried to choose something relating to Pilgrim customs and the first Thanksgiving. Primary drawing or construction is always crude, but our object is accomplished if we help each child express his own ideas in picture or hand-work.

In the winter term, following the Christmas vacation, we have been studying the drawing of objects with this essential aim in view: Ability to show how a thing looks (a) from the object; (b) from imagination. This of course involves the drawing of familiar objects in the primary grades, and the application of the knowledge thus gained by using the objects in a picture, and perhaps making them in paper or cutting out to impress their shape on the child's mind and develop manual skill. In the intermediate and grammar grades we have advanced from drawing the object in good proportion merely to a study of the effects of foreshortening and distance on the appearance of the objects.

The Spring term's work will deal mostly with the subject of color and design suitable for the decoration of objects for use and ornament in school, such as covers, calendars, graduation programs, etc. "It is no small matter to make a useful thing beautiful, yet if I am not mistaken, this is the highest aim of art."

In many instances individual pupils have shown a decided ability to draw especially well, and in every school the work shown is most encouraging.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRIET A. ELLIS.

Report of the Supervisor of Music.

This report covers the year beginning with the spring term of 1906 and ending with the winter term of 1907. Naturally the work of three consecutive terms is best seen in the spring, and when study is taken up again in the fall the children show the effects of the long vacation in music as well as along other lines.

The many changes in the teaching force tended to retard advancement for a time, but the new conditions were met in the right spirit and the gain made since the last report is commendable. Other things being equal the greatest progress is made where the teachers remain longest in charge, and it is unfortunate that so many changes seem to be unavoidable in our schools.

We have no schoolroom in Wilbraham containing less than three grades, and the majority have a larger number. Such being the case the results accomplished deserve a special word of appreciation.

Each June sends out a class trained in the rudiments of music, and each succeeding year thus far has shown a gain over its predecessors in theoretical knowledge and ability to use the voice. We cannot help wishing that, as the pupils of the public schools enter the Academy, they might continue their musical education by means of a free chorus class such as is held in the majority of High Schools.

The Weaver method has been used as heretofore and no change has been made during the past year in the carefully outlined course of study, the result obtained being such as to warrant us in continuing the same method. The New Educational Series of Music Readers published by Ginn & Co. have been adopted, and we are using a more advanced set of sight-singing slips than heretofore.

The pupils of the grammar grades furnished the music for the graduating exercises of the Ninth Grades last June in an acceptable manner.

Not only in the schoolroom, but in the social and religious life of the town, the results of careful training in music are becoming more thoroughly realized. The task of preparing children for a public musical performance is far easier than it was seven years ago.

Parents and friends are cordially invited to visit our schools and see and hear what is being done, but if it is impossible for them to give us the inspiration of their presence, we trust they will at least do all in their power to encourage the children in using the voice God has given them. In order to become a musical nation we must have the foundations firmly laid in our homes and schools.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY ELIZABETH HOWARD,

Supervisor of Music.

ABNER E. BELL FUND.

North Wilbraham, Mass., Dec. 3, 1901.

Received from the town of Wilbraham the sum of forty dollars, the same being in full for land damage awarded by the County Commissioners, June 25, 1901, by reason of relocation of highway in North Wilbraham in their decree dated April 3, 1901. The amount to be deposited in some savings bank in trust for the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell, the interest to be paid annually to said Abner E. Bell during his life by reason of his life tenancy in that portion of the late Henry Cutler's estate. At his decease the principal to revert to the town of Wilbraham for the use of the Public Library, according to the terms of the will of the late Henry Cutler.

E. W. WALL, { Trustee of the Town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell.

The sum of forty dollars is deposited in the Springfield Institution of Savings in the City of Springfield, Book No. 158,877.

E. W. WALL.

CHLOE BLISS STEBBINS FUND — ESTABLISHED 1897.

This is a contribution of three hundred dollars, made by Solomon Bliss Stebbins of Boston, from money given to him by Chloe Bliss Stebbins of Wilbraham, said sum to be held by the town as a memorial of her regard for its association with her long life dwelt therein, and in which she died Feb. 27, 1897. The income of the fund is to be paid annually, one-third to the overseers of the poor for the relief of the poor of the town; one-third to the managers of the town library to aid in its support, and one-third to secure perpetual good care of the graves in the town burial ground of Eber and Elizabeth Bliss Stebbins, and their children, buried in the same range.

THE HIRAM DANKS CEMETERY LOT FUND— ESTABLISHED 1903.

This is a fund of one hundred dollars, left by the will of Hiram Danks, the income only of which to be paid to the treasurer of the Town of Wilbraham for the perpetual care of the Hiram Danks burial lot in the Wilbraham cemetery.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTION.

WILBRAHAM, APRIL 26, 1905.

It being the duty of the town, under the law of the state, to pay the tuition for high school instruction of such children as are duly qualified, the following regulations have been adopted:

1. High school instruction, at the expense of the town, will be given to such children as pass satisfactory examinations.

2. Examinations for high school instruction, at the expense of the town, shall be given to such children only as shall be recommended by the Superintendent of Schools.

3. No children shall be recommended by the Superintendent for examination unless they have satisfactorily completed, in course or by examination, the studies of the "Course of Study," for the public schools for Wilbraham.

4. Examinations shall be given in Arithmetic, English Grammar and Composition, Geography, United States History, and Physiology (after 1905).

5. All who shall pass these examinations shall receive from the Superintendent of Schools a certificate which shall entitle the person named therein to tuition, at the expense of the Town of Wilbraham, in Wesleyan Academy or such high school as may be duly approved by the School Committee.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee of Wilbraham.

MADAM AND GENTLEMEN: —

MARGUERITE GRISWOLD.
Grade IX.

SINCE there has been no radical change in purpose or conditions a detailed account of this year's work would be but a repetition of former reports. Your attention is therefore called to those features which in some degree differentiate this from preceding years.

At the close of the spring term the three ninth grades of the town, —from Glendale, North Wilbraham and Wilbraham street,—after exercises in their respective rooms, united for graduation in Grace chapel, North Wilbraham.

Music under the direction of our supervisor, Miss Howard, was furnished by the schools.

The address of the evening was delivered by Mr. J. E. Warren, agent of the State Board of Education, and diplomas were awarded by H. G. Webber, M. D., to Vera P. Bell, Martha I. Egan, Grace G. Robinson, Ina M. Scott, Hazel A. Vinton, North Wilbraham; Fred W. Green, Ethel H. Hay, Wilbraham street; Ruth A. Calkins, Martin L. Eddy, Glendale.

Eight of these subsequently took examinations for entrance to Wesleyan Academy with gratifying results. One of the same number having passed satisfactorily here took further tests in Palmer and was admitted to the high school there.

We are now paying tuition for twenty-nine in the Academy and one in Palmer high school.

As usual there were several changes in the teaching force at the close of the school year but we were most fortunate in retaining the services of some whose value to us can hardly be over estimated and in securing other promising candidates.

The school garden in No. 1, though carefully tended during the spring term, was seriously affected by the dry weather of the summer. A little money however was raised by sale of the produce and expended for small Perry pictures for use in school.

At North Wilbraham the work was all done on home land. Some of the children had creditable gardens while others, with but a bit of ground under the windows or by the doors, fenced their little plots and had a few flowers, or vines which gave evidence of care and deserved much praise.

In No. 5, the products were used in class for the lessons in drawing and were afterwards taken home; Glendale made a school exhibit at harvest time.

The following is the report made by the secretary:

North Wilbraham, Mass., Oct. 14, 1907.

The Young Folks' Grain Club exhibit was held Tuesday, October 8th, at the Glendale schoolhouse.

The members brought vegetables which they raised themselves. Those who had the best and largest were as follows: Stephen Ferancovitz, corn; Cassius Lemon, potatoes; Robert Robinson, cabbage; Lillian Segeal, carrot. The other members brought good products but they were not as large as those mentioned above.

Meeting was held October 11th at 3.40. Talked about work for next year as this was to be our last meeting till spring. Adjourned at 4 o'clock.

LILLIAN SEGEAL, Secretary.

Of course the direct results of this labor are meagre. Their value consists in the influence which a sense of ownership and responsibility exerts upon the mind of the child.

When a little boy told me that his crop failed, because of a mistake he made, and that he now knew what not to do another season, I felt that he had learned more than he could have done had his seed yielded the desired increase. or had he been simply an observer of another's efforts.

Because of insufficient appropriation the medical inspection has been inadequate and has fallen below the intent of the law.

I am sure that there are defective children in our schools whose cases are not reached by the eye and ear tests applied by the teacher, whose lives will be enfeebled by disease which a practised eye would now discover and which, at this stage, are entirely curable.

Those who have listened to the singing of our pupils will bear cheerful witness to the excellence of the teaching of Miss Howard.

The work in drawing under Miss Ellis is not so well known but is none the less well done. Some of the best sheets have been sent to Henry T. Bailey, Editor of the School Arts Book, who receives, examines, and criticises drawings from grammar and primary schools all over the country.

The following have received recognition and their names have been published in the magazine mentioned above:

Honorable mention: James Avison, School No. 4; Howard Crosby, No. 1; Elsie Farr, No. 7; Melina Gagnon, No. 5; Blanche Fitzgerald, No. 8; Harold Hitchcock, No. 8; Mabel Perry, No. 2; Faye Robinson, No. 2. Fourth prize, Chester Bell, No. 2.

"Day off." In the fall the Glendale school took an afternoon for a visit to the paper mill in North Wilbraham. Upon his return each pupil was required to record his observations.

I think the afternoon with its glimpse of home industry, which became the subject of a subsequent lesson in written English, was fully as profitable as one spent in a schoolroom.

By the kindness and under the efficient management of Mrs. Cutler, assisted by the Woman's Club, of which she is the president, the schools were enabled to profit by the Turner collection of two hundred pictures exhibited here November 19–23.

Each school, with its teacher, was given a half-day, transportation was furnished by Mr. Stevens of Ludlow Mills, Wesleyan Academy, and citizens of the town, and Grange Hall was opened to us at slight cost for heat, care, and lighting.

It is estimated that the number of visits to the exhibition exceeded five hundred.

This does not mean that five hundred different people saw these fine reproductions of art, for some came more than once, but after expenses were paid the proceeds secured a picture for every building in town. The framing was done by subscription, the net proceeds exceeding sixty-five dollars.

School No. 1	has Bayard,	Paton
School No. 2 Ad.	has Feeding Her Birds,	Millet
School No. 2 P.	has Primary School in Brittany,	Geoffray
School No. 3	has Deer in the Forest,	Rosa Bonheur
School No. 4	has Pilgrims Going to Church,	Boughton
School No. 5	has Monarch of the Glen,	Landseer
School No. 6	has At the Hearth,	Hoecker
School No. 7	(The same as No. 4, smaller size).
School No. 8	has Lincoln from St. Gaudens Statue.

The money for the three rooms of No. 4 was put into one picture which was hung in the hall and the same is true in No. 8.

During part of the year a portion of the time assigned to drawing in the upper grades of North Wilbraham has been devoted to manual training, the boys working in wood, while the girls have been taught to sew.

A carpenter bench, long enough to accommodate eight boys, has been loaned by Mr. Keyes and we have bought a few saws, chisels, planes and hammers. At first the boys furnished their own lumber; more recently it has been supplied by a resident interested in the work.

The girls have made school bags and have furnished their material. They are now working on sofa cushions, making their own designs.

Each member of the class has been required to make a working drawing of the articles to be manufactured.

That represented on page 36 was drawn by Chester Bell and shows the plan of the bookcase he is now working.

Before Christmas, each boy made a coat or hat rack which now hangs in his own home.

Had we been less mindful of expense much more might have been accomplished but scarcity of tools has forced the boys to wait for one another. When one reaches the point where he can work independently he is allowed to put in as much of his leisure time as he sees fit, provided always that the principal is in the building.

A knowledge of arithmetic and other school branches is necessary and useful but it is no less important for boys to know the use of simple tools and for girls to be able to make and neatly mend articles of clothing. With the multiplicity of demands upon the time these things are not taught in the home and we have proof that such instruction is needed.

The school yard in No. 8, so long a blot on the fair face of nature, has been greatly improved by the hard walk leading to the building. A lady much interested here has generously arranged for the setting out of shrubs and we hope, by another year, these grounds will compare favorably with those so admirably cared for in No. 4.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY L. POLAND.

Report of the Supervisor of Drawing.

Miss Mary L. Poland, Superintendent of Schools, Wilbraham :

CHESTER BELL.
Grade IX.

THE second year of drawing instruction in the public schools has marked in many ways an advance over the development of this study last year. More adequate materials have been supplied for the work, so that better results are possible.

In the main, the same outline has been followed as last year, though with a broader understanding on the part of both teachers and supervisor as to the needs of the children. We wish to make drawing more vital, more genuinely useful to our pupils, and more evidently a necessary part of the school work.

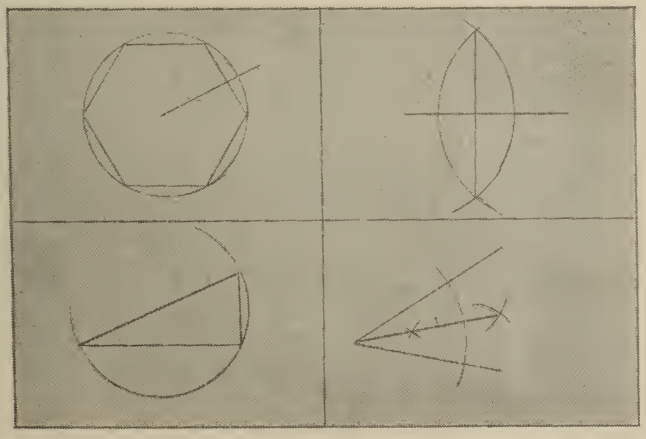
"Not unrelated, unaffied,
But to each other task allied."

The study in the fall of plants and flowers resulted in a most interesting set of nature-drawings, (pencil, brush and ink, and water-color), as was shown by the awarding of Fourth Prize and Honorable Mention by the School Arts Guild to children in several different schools of the town. This contest is conducted by the School Arts Book, a periodical edited by Mr. Henry T. Bailey, former State Supervisor of Drawing for Massachusetts. The book is published each month by the Davis Press in Worcester, and is devoted to the interests of drawing instruction in the public schools of the country. Many school children from cities and towns all over the United States are among the contestants, and awards from the Guild prove the child's work of real merit.

Considering the fact that "the development of art appreciation is of as great importance as skillful execution," something of value to the children is gained by this study to know and appreciate the beauty of common plants and flowers, so that observation as well as greater ability in self-expression is developed.

Following the two months of nature-drawing, the weeks preceeding Christmas were given in all the schools to constructive work, that is, the making and decorating of some object from card, paper, cloth or wood, which might be used as a Christmas gift.

To quote Mr. Sargent, Director of Drawing and the Manual Arts in the Boston public schools, "the aim of constructive work in schools may be considered as three-fold : —



William O'Connor. Grade VII.

I. To make the results of all teaching more permanent and valuable, by introducing the element of motor activity which is a necessary factor in intellectual development, and therefore must be recognized in any efficient scheme of public school education.

II. To develop industrial intelligence, i. e. habits of efficient, thoughtful, well-planned, economical doing." Concerning this he says, "Industrial intelligence is more than power to deal readily with figures and words. Ability to estimate, select and shape material to produce a desired result exactly as planned is gained only through actual estimating, selecting and shaping. Where constructive work has formed part of a child's training from the beginning, so that he realizes as a matter of course the distance that intervenes between the idea of a thing and that thing completed (a gap that must be bridged by intelligently sustained effort), and where he has repeated experiences in performing the successive processes with his own hands, there industrial intelligence will be developed. If a definite idea of the appearance and structure of the thing to be made accompanied by exact dimensions and patterns, and calculation of material is required before cutting of the final material is allowed, habits of efficient workmanship are developed, and aimless, planless work is discouraged. The objects chosen should be those whose use will be readily understood by the children, and in which they will be interested. Wood, cardboard, raffia, metal and leather are excellent material for grammar grades and require no more equipment than can usually be mustered in most towns.

III. To develop appreciation of beauty and excellence in constructed objects and establish true standards of judgment, is another aim of constructive work. Appreciation is developed partly through much interested choosing between things better and worse. A high capacity for enjoyment of beauty in constructed objects is seldom developed alone by seeing beautiful things without ever having tried to produce them."

It would seem then that manual dexterity as developed by successive problems in hand-work or manual-training, from the time the child first desires to "make something" is an important factor to be considered along with the drawing. A trial of manual-training, in the form of wood-work or carpentry, has been made in the North Wilbraham grammar school, though the work has not as yet progressed very far, owing to the necessarily small equipment obtainable. With the aid of the mechanical drawing-kit, including board, T square, triangle and compass, the boys have made (for reference when the object is being constructed in wood) a working-drawing of a table book-rack. After the construction is finished it is planned to have a suitable decoration made for the ends of the rack, and the whole stained in harmonious colors.

While the boys in the grammar room were engaged in wood-work, the girls were busy in the making of denim school-bags. They sewed the seams and hem by hand, made a design to decorate the front of the bag, and afterwards outlined this with colored silks. They are now at work on the designing of a sofa-cushion top to be made from burlap or denim, and will consider the making of the design, its application to the object, and suitable coloring of the same. It is now planned to try a similar problem in applied design in the grammar room at No. 4 school.

Manual-training of this sort gives reality to much necessarily abstract teaching. It trains hand and eye, quickens the perception, and the faculty of observation, and creates habits of accuracy, self-reliance, and truth. For boys especially it may prepare for a vocation, provide an occupation for leisure hours, and perhaps reach many not otherwise given to application to their school studies.

The earnest spirit in which the work is taken up by teachers and pupils in every school, is one of the pleasantest features of the drawing instruction, and we ought with suitable equipment to accomplish things of lasting value.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRIET A. ELLIS.

Report of the Supervisor of Music.

Raymond A. Bartlett,
Grade IX.

THE past school year has been an uneventful one. There have been no epidemics of disease among the children, the weather has been unusually favorable for good attendance, and six of the twelve teachers who were with us a year ago are with us still, although two are not teaching in the rooms they occupied last year. These conditions favor progress along all lines, and music has prospered as well as other branches of study.

Our schools are all carefully graded and the course outlined in music is practically the same for each grade. Each room, however, has its own peculiar conditions, and while all show more or less satisfactory results it is not by comparing results so much as by considering under what circumstances they were accomplished that we realize the real work that has been done. A short outline of existing conditions in the different schoolrooms of our town will be allowable in this annual report.

School Number One has six grades and a large proportion of children who attend school for a comparatively short time, then leave to have their places taken by others whose stay is likewise short. These pupils usually come to us with little or no previous musical training and it is surprising to see what they gain in school. It takes time and patience, but much has been done for them.

School Number Two Primary is composed almost entirely of children unable to speak our language, Italians and Poles as a rule. These children are naturally musical and, although the words are broken, sing their little songs very sweetly and with great pleasure. The advanced grades in this building consist of a large fourth grade and a few pupils in advanced grades, the latter being far ahead of the former musically as well as otherwise. The problem here is to continue the training of the older children and at the same time refrain from pushing the fourth grade too rapidly. The teacher is solving it well.

School Number Three has an unusual proportion of pupils who need special drill in tone perception. It is encouraging to see the improvement in this direction. This is a thing that cannot be hurried, but steady, persevering effort is bound to be successful in the end.

School Number Four Primary has conditions somewhat similar to District Number One in that a number of the pupils have non-resident parents. Every seat is filled and there are five grades, so much credit is due the teacher for the results obtained. Number Four Advanced has a good chorus which is singing from the New Educational Music Course Third Reader and Number 7 Weaver Individual S. S. Slips, and the music here is in the best condition it has been since the present building has been occupied. The majority of these children have had training in music during most of their school life. The inspiration of numbers is lacking in District Number Five, but there are some promising voices and a good chance for individual oversight.

School Number Six has a number of lower grade children who are deficient in pitch, but they are improving, and the upper grades are working well. During part of last year school Number Seven had more grades than any other school in town, and a family of children who could speak no English when they first entered; but the gain in music has been marked, and the highest of the Weaver S. S. Series, No. 10, is being used by one of the scholars.

School Number Eight Primary contains a number of bright little people who enjoy singing their songs. The Intermediate room in this building is well filled and has gained much during the past year. There are a number of good voices among these children. Number Eight Advanced lost some of the best singers in the room when the ninth grade graduated, and the class entering this year did not bring voices to fill their places. Good work is being done however, and some of the pupils here read music remarkably well. The New Educational Music Course Third Reader and Weaver S. S. Series No. 7 are used.

There is certainly a steady forward movement in all our schools and we have reason to be proud of what has been achieved by our teachers and scholars.

Last June the music for the graduating exercises of the ninth grade was furnished by pupils from Number Four and Number Eight advanced rooms and school Number Seven. The music consisted of two three part choruses, one without accompaniment, and a three part unaccompanied song by selected girls' voices.

It is a fact, and rightly so, that the average person sets either a rock maple or an elm. With the idea of adding to the variety of our trees, the tree warden ventured to plant a somewhat unusual selection. The poplars were planted as fillers with the slow-growing oaks, and will be removed later.

The Forestry Association suggests the setting of some streets with every other tree an evergreen. It also says that roadside shrubs, as osiers, black alder, mountain-cranberry, bittersweet, etc., must be controlled by the tree warden. The tree warden would suggest the leaving of groups of these, and also small trees of desirable kinds, when cutting brush.

The elm beetles did much damage; and I regret that through a misunderstanding, they were not scalded when at the foot of the trees as I intended.

ABNER E. BELL FUND.

North Wilbraham, Mass., Dec. 3, 1901.

Received from the town of Wilbraham the sum of forty dollars, the same being in full for land damage awarded by the County Commissioners, June 25, 1901, by reason of relocation of highway in North Wilbraham in their decree dated April 3, 1901. The amount to be deposited in some savings bank in trust for the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell, the interest to be paid annually to said Abner E. Bell during his life by reason of his life tenancy in that portion of the late Henry Cutler's estate. At his decease the principal to revert to the town of Wilbraham for the use of the Public Library, according to the terms of the will of the late Henry Cutler.

W. H. McGUIRE Jr., { Trustee of the Town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell.

The sum of forty dollars is deposited in the Springfield Institution for Savings in the City of Springfield, Book No. 158,877.

W. H. McGUIRE Jr.

CHLOE BLISS STEBBINS FUND — ESTABLISHED 1897.

This is a contribution of three hundred dollars, made by Solomon Bliss Stebbins of Boston, from money given to him by Chloe Bliss Stebbins of Wilbraham, said sum to be held by the town as a memorial of her regard for its association with her long life dwelt therein, and in which she died Feb. 27, 1897. The income of the fund is to be paid annually, one-third to the overseers of the poor for the relief of the poor of the town; one-third to the managers of the town library to aid in its support, and one-third to secure perpetual good care of the graves in the town burial ground of Eber and Elizabeth Bliss Stebbins, and their children, buried in the same range.

THE HIRAM DANKS CEMETERY LOT FUND — ESTABLISHED 1903.

This is a fund of one hundred dollars, left by the will of Hiram Danks, the income only of which to be paid to the treasurer of the Town of Wilbraham for the perpetual care of the Hiram Danks burial lot in the Wilbraham cemetery.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTION.

WILBRAHAM, APRIL 26, 1905.

It being the duty of the town, under the law of the state, to pay the tuition for high school instruction of such children as are duly qualified, the following regulations have been adopted:

1. High school instruction, at the expense of the town, will be given to such children as pass satisfactory examinations.

2. Examinations for high school instruction, at the expense of the town, shall be given to such children only as shall be recommended by the Superintendent of Schools.

3. No children shall be recommended by the Superintendent for examination unless they have satisfactorily completed, in course or by examination, the studies of the "Course of Study," for the public schools of Wilbraham.

4. Examinations shall be given in Arithmetic, English Grammar and Composition, Geography, United States History, and Physiology (after 1905).

5. All who shall pass these examinations shall receive from the Superintendent of Schools a certificate which shall entitle the person named therein to tuition, at the expense of the Town of Wilbraham, in Wesleyan Academy or such high school as may be duly approved by the School Committee.

MEDICAL INSPECTION.

As Medical Inspector appointed by the School Board, I have visited all the schools three times during the year; that is, each term. At each visit I have separately inspected all pupils in attendance. If at regular inspection in any school I have found conditions that required it, have reinspected the same after a stated interval. Have also visited several of the schools at the call of teachers for special inspections.

Wilbraham, Feb. 8, 1909.

At present we are paying tuition for twenty-three in Wesleyan Academy, four in Ludlow, two in Springfield and two in Palmer.

The emphasis of the school work this year has been placed upon the study of English. With the youngest children, this consists of reading, spelling, insistence upon correct forms of speech and writing short easy sentences to illustrate the use of capitals and terminal marks. In the third year through part of the seventh and in all intervening classes, the time is largely devoted to the study and practice of harder but common forms of our language. The eighth and ninth years are given to the study of technical grammar. Selections from the best authors are read and studied throughout the course.

A large amount of time is given to the correction of bad habits which should never have been tolerated. Parents can give most valuable aid by insisting on absolute correctness of speech in their households. It is really no easier to say "I hain't got nothing" than to say "I haven't anything," and it is almost impossible for the school to change what the home tolerates. We must work together for pure English as well as for good manners and morals, and parents and teachers should each supplement the efforts of the other.

It matters little how much knowledge a person possesses if he fails to speak his mother tongue correctly, for he pains where he might help and offends when he might interest and instruct. If his language be rude and uncultivated his "speech bewrayeth" him constantly and he is marked as ignorant whenever he essays to speak. Carelessness in pronunciation is surprisingly common, rules which were learned with painstaking care are violated and words frequently express the exact opposite of the thought they were meant to convey. If each person would resolve to correct one of the common errors of his own or of his family's usage our spoken English would soon be much purer.

School Grounds. Undaunted by past discouragements the Stony Hill school again planted its flower and vegetable seeds and this year its grounds were protected by temporary fencing. Their flowers blossomed throughout the summer and weeks after the fall term opened, the children rejoiced in their beauty. They proudly received the prize for the best school grounds and most richly they deserved it for the work here was almost entirely done by teacher and pupils. With the same amount of attention each spring this yard will soon become a beautiful spot in which the entire section will take pleasure.

The yard in No. 8, which is probably seen by more people than any other in town, has been greatly improved by the personal attention and generosity of a lady in the vicinity. Flowers and shrubs purchased by private subscription for No. 4 have been well cared for and have defied the unfavorable seasons.

The playground in the rear of this building gives great advantage over conditions in North Wilbraham. The ground around the building in "The Pines" is lower near the steps than elsewhere and there are time when the children cannot reach them with dry feet. This demands attention.

Improvements begun some years ago in East Wilbraham have been continued and the room is now attractive and pleasant.

The people in Glendale have for several years manifested great interest in their school surroundings. On one day in the year,—usually on Arbor Day,—the men take their dinners and give their time to the work there.

Only one building has water on the premises. The schools depend upon the neighbors for their supply, which after reaching the schools stands uncovered and furnishes refreshment by means of a cup or dipper common to all.

Wash basins are furnished, but with two exceptions there are no sinks or outlets and the water is thrown from the door and spilled upon the floor.

I advise the use of covered tanks which can be filled each day and from which water can be drawn by means of a faucet. With these and with sinks like those in Nos. 4 and 8, cleanliness will be a reasonable requirement and danger from disease will be diminished.

Manual training has been continued this year in the school in North Wilbraham. Under the direction of our supervisor of drawing the boys have made coat and hat racks, broom holders and brush broom cases which they have placed in their own homes. They have learned to work with saw, chisel and plane and their work has been done with care and enforced accuracy.

A small amount of public money has been expended for tools and a still smaller sum for material. A citizen has furnished nearly all the lumber and has kept the tools sharpened since the work began a year and a half ago.

The schoolhouse, built at considerable expense, is occupied less than one-fifth of the time. If it can be wired and thus suitably lighted for evening classes in woodwork and sewing or for quiet reading by any well disposed minors, it will greatly benefit this part of the community, where the occupation of the parent furnishes no employment for the children. Can we not, as an experiment, provide for the use of this building for one or two evenings a week, so long as the privilege is not abused?

For many years a former resident worked with tireless patience for the interests of the schools, giving his time and counsel long after his strength was depleted, when most would have sought release from public duty. I had hoped that one of our new buildings would be given his name, but they were opened without formal dedication and the matter was neglected. Now, in tardy but fitting recognition of his large service, I suggest that his name be placed on the building in North Wilbraham which shall henceforth be known as the Jason Butler school.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY L. POLAND.

Report of the Supervisor of Drawing.

Miss Mary L. Poland, Superintendent of Schools, Wilbraham:

Some years ago there was a question as to the desirability of drawing as a part of the public school course. It is now agreed that the power to use and understand the language of lines and spaces is necessary to the people of the twentieth century. In order to make drawing a graphic language it is important to train the eye and hand to work together. The children are not only learning to use the correlation of their hand and eyes as a means of expression, but they are finding the beauties in everything.

"The merest grass
Along the roadside where we pass
Lichen and moss and sturdy weed,
Tell of His love who sends the dew,
The rain, and the sunshine too,
To nourish one small seed."

The work this year has been planned very much as it was last year. In the fall, when all nature was decked in her gayest colors, the children brought beautiful leaves and flowers into the school and learned how to match the colors and paint the plant as they saw it. After the flowers faded and the leaves disappeared the pupils told stories about the harvest and made pictures of the different vegetables. Soon after Thanksgiving each child began to make some gift to be given to some one on Christmas. Since Christmas the pupils have been instructed in some of the principles in drawing, such as foreshortening, proportion and convergence.

The members of the manual training class in the North Wilbraham grammar school is taking a keen interest in its work. Last year Mr. Murray, formerly of Springfield, gave to the North Wilbraham school one dozen jack-knives, eight try squares, two planes, one screw-driver, two bench blocks and one block plane. This year the town has given the class more adequate equipment which should enable the work to progress. At the same time that the boys are working with their tools the girls are learning how to sew. They are now cutting and making a dress.

The whole purpose in planning the problems in drawing and manual training is to give the pupils something practical which will develop the child's imagination, observation, and individuality.

Respectfully submitted,

MADELINE NOBLE.

Report of the Supervisor of Music.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The school year just completed has been a very satisfactory one from a musical point of view. The regular course of study in music has been followed as closely as possible under existing conditions, and the results have been creditable to both instructors and pupils. Where we have been so fortunate as to retain the teachers of the previous year the progress has been especially noticeable, and the six recently added to the teaching force have taken up the work with a marked spirit of enthusiasm and effort. The town is to be congratulated upon possessing so efficient a corps of instructors.

The number of grades in the different schools varies from three to six. Districts Number 2 Primary, and Advanced, and Number 8 Primary, Intermediate, and Advanced, contain three grades each; District Number 4 Advanced, four, and Districts Number 1, 3, 4 Primary, 5, 6, and 7, five and six grades. It would be unreasonable to expect the same amount of work from a room of five or six grades as from one of half the number, but it is surprising to see what can be accomplished in these schools.

While schools Number 3 and 5 lack the stimulus of numbers, this year show a decided improvement over last year in the quality and quantity of work done. Number 6 is in the best condition it has been for some time, this state of affairs being largely due to the efforts of the capable teacher now in charge.

Schools Number 1 and 4 Primary, besides many grades, have a large proportion of pupils whose stay in the town is comparatively short, so there are frequent changes among them. Naturally this tends to retard advance to a certain degree, but faithful work is being done and progress is being made. In District No. 7 we miss the graduates of last June, but the children are doing their best to keep up the standard, aided by a painstaking teacher.

The little people in the Primary rooms of Numbers 2 and 8 sing their rote songs sweetly and with much enjoyment, but this is only a part of their training, and they also sing intervals from dictation and read simple exercises from the board and printed slips. A great deal of eartraining is done in these lower grades. The Intermediate grades in Number 2 and 8 use Music Readers and more difficult slips, sing two part songs and study thoroughly the problems in time and tune belonging to these grades.

The two Grammar Schools sing three part music and use the Third and Fourth Music Readers, the latter purchased last spring. In Number 4 we could have good four part singing if there were one or two leading soprano voices, while in Number 8 the soprano voices predominate. Both schools combined ought to form a very effective chorus. The fundamental principles of music are drilled in these advanced grades, together with chorus singing.

The four upper grades of these two buildings, with the graduates of school Number 7, furnished the music for the graduating exercises of the Grammar Schools last June. The musical program consisted of a piano solo and three three-part choruses, two with piano accompaniment and one without.

The Wilbraham schools are now well equipped with copies of the Weaver Individual Sight Singing Series, New Educational Music Readers numbers one, two, three and four, pitchpipes, and staffliners, the latter having been provided recently. In a previous report the wish was expressed that additional training in music might be given by the Academy to pupils entering from the town schools. A free chorus such as is found in the majority of High Schools would be greatly appreciated by the Wilbraham students of "Wesleyan."

Respectfully submitted,

Supervisor of Music.

ABNER E. BELL FUND.

North Wilbraham, Mass., Dec. 3, 1901.

Received from the town of Wilbraham the sum of forty dollars. the same being in full for land damage awarded by the County Commissioners, June 25. 1901, by reason of relocation of highway in North Wilbraham in their decree dated April 3, 1901. The amount to be deposited in some savings bank in trust for the town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell, the interest to be paid annually to said Abner E. Bell during his life by reason of his life tenancy in that portion of the late Henry Cutler's estate. At his decease the principal to revert to the town of Wilbraham for the use of the Public Library, according to the terms of the will of the late Henry Cutler.

W. H. McGUIRE, Jr., { Trustee of the Town of Wilbraham and Abner E. Bell.

The sum of forty dollars is deposited in the Springfield Institution for Savings in the City of Springfield. Book No. 158,877.

W. H. McGUIRE Jr.

CHLOE BLISS STEBBINS FUND — ESTABLISHED 1897.

This is a contribution of three hundred dollars, made by Solomon Bliss Stebbins of Boston, from money given to him by Chloe Bliss Stebbins of Wilbraham, said sum to be held by the town as a memorial of her regard for its association with her long life dwelt therein, and in which she died Feb. 27, 1897. The income of the fund is to be paid annually, one-third to the overseers of the poor for the relief of the poor of the town; one-third to the managers of the town library to aid in its support, and one-third to secure perpetual good care of the graves in the town burial ground of Eber and Elizabeth Bliss Stebbins, and their children, buried in the same range.

THE HIRAM DANKS CEMETERY LOT FUND — ESTABLISHED 1903.

This is a fund of one hundred dollars, left by the will of Hiram Danks, the income only of which to be paid to the treasurer of the Town of Wilbraham for the perpetual care of the Hiram Danks burial lot in the Wilbraham cemetery.

$100.00, interest $4.04. Total in bank, $104.04.

No gypsy or brown tail moths have been discovered in town, but the elm beetle did much damage. Several residents scalded the domant larvae at the foot of their trees and helped the tree warden in the work. Kerosene and water was tried and proved effective. This treatment is good as far as it goes; but as only approximately two-thirds of the beetles are reached it seems that the town must spray or lose the beauty of its elms.

The State Forester is taking steps to secure the co-operation of state and towns in fighting this pest.

To the State Forester's inquiries as to the tree apparatus owned by the town I was obliged to reply that we had none.

HENRY I. EDSON, Tree Warden.

Report of Forest Warden.

There have been no very disastrous fires in town this year.

Forest wardens have been vigilant and citizens prompt in answering calls.

The fires have been mostly on grass land, where but little damage could be done. On Mt. Marcy the fire seriously checked the growth of the trees, and killed the young growth on about four acres of chestnut sprouts.

Several small fires caused by the railroad were promptly checked by the section men or wardens.

The greatest danger seems to be from picnic parties on the mountains and from careless smokers.

The State Forester wishes each town to be equipped with fire extinguishers in each neighborhood.

MEDICAL INSPECTION.

As Medical Inspector appointed by the School Board, I have visited all the schools three times during the year; that is, each term. At each visit I have separately inspected all pupils in attendance. If at regular inspection in any school I have found conditions that required it, have reinspected the same after a stated interval. Have also visited several of the schools at the call of teachers for special inspections.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTION.

WILBRAHAM, MARCH 1, 1910.

The town is required under the law of the state to pay tuition for high school instruction for such children as are duly qualified. The following regulations have been adopted:

1. High school instruction at the expense of the town will be given to such children as pass satisfactorily examinations given by the Superintendent.

2. Children recommended by the Superintendent will be admitted to Springfield High School, Ludlow High School or Wesleyan Academy without further examinations.

3. No child shall be recommended by the Superintendent until satisfactorily completing by course or examination the "Course of Study" for the public schools of Wilbraham.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee of Wilbraham.

Madam and Gentlemen:

The annual report of the schools of the town is herewith presented:

Present Corps of Teachers.		Elected.	Educated.
No. 1 or Stony Hill,	Miss Harriet M. Cushman,	Aug., 1908	Black River (Vt.) Academy
No. 2 or The Pines, Ad.,	Miss Jennie L. Hurwitz,	July, 1907	Springfield High School Westfield Normal
Primary,	Miss Emma B. Smith,	Nov., 1907	So. Norwalk, Conn., High, Froebel Normal Training, College Course, New York
No. 3 or Mile Tree,	Miss Laura Rice,	July, 1909	Wesleyan Academy, Hyannis Normal, Summer Course.
No. 4 or Wilbraham Street, Ad.,	Miss Mary E. Mack,	Jan., 1902	Wesleyan Academy.
Primary,	Miss Gladys M. Johnson,	Sept., 1909	Hardwick High School.
No. 5,	Miss Mary L. Gibbons,	May, 1909	Brookline High School, Framingham Normal.
No. 6 or East Wilbraham,	Miss Mary E. Marsh,	July, 1908	Abbott Female Seminary, Andover.
No 7 or Glendale,	Miss Florence M. Moore,	July, 1908	Princeton High School, Framingham Normal.
No. 8 or North Wilbraham Grammar.	Miss Grace Titcomb,	Apr., 1906	Wakefield High School, North Adams Normal.
Intermediate,	Miss Effie L. Morgan,	Jan., 1901	Wesleyan Academy.
Primary,	Miss Edith M. Plummer,	May, 1909	Hanover, (N. H.) High School, Framingham Normal.
Music,	Miss Mary E. Howard,		Wesleyan Academy, N. E. Conservatory of Music, Boston.
Drawing,	Miss Madeline Noble,		Springfield High School, Normal Art School, Boston.

Graduating exercises were held in each village on the afternoon of June 4. Six from the "Street" and three from North Wilbraham were awarded certificates of graduation. All these subsequently entered high schools and Wesleyan Academy, and eight are still in attendance there.

In accordance with past arrangements our ninth grade pupils who wished to enter the Academy were required to take two examinations, one given by the superintendent at the close of the spring term, and the other given by the Academy after their graduation from grammar school. Through the kindness of the present principal, the latter has been abolished and our pupils now enter the Academy on certificate. Announcements of this change were made to the graduates on the last day of the spring term and were received with evident gratification.

For several years past the three other towns of this union have fitted for Springfield high school. About two years ago the committee of this city voted to admit the candidates from these towns without examination, on recommendation of the superintendent.

At that time, Wilbraham had no one in either of the high schools, but two entered the Technical in the fall of 1908, and, in 1909, the privilege of entering without examination was extended to include candidates from the grammar schools of this town. Under this provision we now have one pupil in the freshman class of the Technical High. Ludlow also admits on recommendation. We have had none who have entered in Palmer during the year and no change in requirements has been made. They have in the past received on examination.

We are now paying high school tuition for 4 in Springfield,

6 in Ludlow,
2 in Palmer,
25 in Wesleyan Academy.

Their names will be found on another page.

English history has been added to the required studies and the law of 1908 demands instruction in the nature, cause and prevention of tuberculosis. When we consider that more people in the United States die of consumption each year than were killed in the four years of the Civil War, we realize the extent of "The Great White Plague," and feel the necessity of this law. To neglect such instruction would seem criminal.

Children who have never attended school are now admitted only in the month of September, except by special permission. They have hitherto been allowed to enter at any time during the year and this has forced the forming of new classes or hindered the progress of those who have been longer in school. A child who reaches his fifth birthday too late to enter in September can well afford to wait until the following year. If he is five before the school opens he can usually enter at the beginning of the fall term.

Tardiness is still far too common, the number of cases being excessive, unreasonable and unnecessary. It is not well to measure ourselves by other towns, which are nearly, or quite, as bad in this respect as we are. We should take the best for our standard and aspire to the first rank in the rural towns of the state.

Tanks which are filled from the top and emptied by faucets have been placed in three of the buildings. They furnish safe supplies of drinking water to the children.

The pails and dangerous common drinking cups should entirely disappear. I quote from an article entitled "Death in School Drinking Cups," published in the November Bulletin of the State Board of Health. "The chief avenue by which bacteria enters the body is the mouth. The air, food, water, and especially the drinking cups are the usual means by which the disease-producing parasites are transferred from one person to another. * * * Most careful examinations by expert bacteriologists show that many of the common sore throats are really light cases of diphtheria. Of the 2,038 mild sore throats examined in the school children of Hartford, Conn., 591 were shown to be due to the true diphtheria germ. Bacteria which in one person causes only slight illness may, when transferred to another individual, produce serious disease and death. The widely different effects of the same germ may be due to the variation in the germ-killing power of the bodily tissues, or it may result from new association with other germs. * * * It is an established fact that a considerable number of well persons harbor in their mouths the germs of grippe, pneumonia, diphtheria and tonsilitis. * * * Tonsilitis and sore throat are known to affect a larger number of pupils in schools where a common drinking cup is used than in those schools where the individual cup is required, or the sanitary drinking fountain has been installed."

The school grounds in several parts of the town have received considerable attention. Improvements have been made at the Mile Tree and teacher and pupils of Stony Hill have sustained their reputation for good taste and industry, each year holding their place at the head of the advance column.

Several rooms have been improved by new floors and whitened walls. Your plan of renovating a few rooms each year has reduced the expense to the minimum and will soon result in attractive buildings throughout the town.

We have been the recipients of several gifts which are of great value to us and are most highly appreciated.

Mrs. Foskit, to whom the town is indebted for its Soldiers' Monument and the Foskit Memorial Hall, added to her generous gifts an organ of excellent tone and quality which she presented to the school in No. 4. It has not only given much pleasure but has been a great help in the study of music. The school in No. 3 has received a set of very fine maps, showing the rotundity of the earth and the large proportion of water on its surface, from Mrs. M. L. Bruuer, who has also furnished a clock for No. 1, and a desk, which has lightened the labor of the teacher and added much to the good appearance of the room in No. 6.

No. 1 has also been given a new floor and most of the expenses of the evening school in No. 8 have been met by generous friends.

The people in Stony Hill section have placed an organ in their schoolroom and the pupils in North Wilbraham have purchased one which they have placed in the hall where the three rooms are benefitted by it.

Last spring, through the kindness of Miss Loring of Pride's Crossing, a gift of over one hundred dollars' worth of books was received from the State Library Commission to be placed at my discretion in different sections of this superintendency. About one-half of the volumes was placed in two sections of this town. By conditions of the gift, an exchange with some other schools of the district will soon be effected. Besides these the schools have received over one hundred discarded books from the Springfield library.

We have complied with the law requiring medical inspection.

The eyes, ears and throats of all the children have been examined and in cases of defect or disease, notice has been sent to parents or guardians. In some instances these notes of warning have been disregarded, in others grateful appreciation has been expressed. "Medical inspection is not complete until parents both understand and correct the defects which the physician has discovered."

The report of the Supervisor of Music is this year omitted. The same thoroughness and enthusiasm which have characterized her work in the past have prevailed throughout the year and those who have heard the children sing will bear witness to her efficiency. Our supervisor of drawing has been most successful in stimulating her classes to their best efforts and marked improvement has resulted. The pupils observe more accurately and respond more readily than in past years. Details of her work will be found in her report.

The evening school was opened in North Wilbraham October 8, and has been kept one evening each week when the day schools have been in session. At first, the basement and two of the class rooms were used, but when the work was well organized one of the rooms was closed and both sewing classes were placed in the other.

The class in manual training has numbered thirteen boys, who, except in inclement weather, have been very regular in attendance. They have worked at the carpenter's bench with saw, chisel and plane. The following models have been made:

Coat hangers, Coat and trouser hangers (two styles)
Footstools, Necktie holder.

Each boy has paid a nominal price for his material but has been given the use of the tools which are also used by the pupils of the day school in their work with our supervisor of drawing. The evening instructor, Mr. Keith Thayer of Springfield, has carried on his work without friction or disturbance and has obtained excellent results.

The sewing class has registered ten girls, all members of the day school. None under grade seven have been admitted, although a number of the younger ones have been anxious to join. The embroidery class has also numbered ten and is composed of young women who are employed during the day. All have seemed appreciative and pleased to learn. They have certainly been most pleasant to work with. The teachers are Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Whiting and Mrs. Berry.

Books and papers furnished by generous contributors are used, for the most part, by boys who come early or stay after their manual work is finished. On one or two occasions a short musical entertainment has been furnished. The town wired the building and has supplied light and heat and a few extra tools have been bought. Beyond this the school has been conducted without public expense. It will continue through the winter months, possibly into the spring.

Looking back over the year increased interest, good feeling and fair improvement are noted.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY L. POLAND.

Report of the Supervisor of Drawing.

Miss Mary L. Poland, Superintendent of Schools, Wilbraham:

The drawing in the public schools shows a decided improvement on the work done last year. The influence of this progress is seen in the better spaced and neater arithmetic, language and spelling papers. This marked advance in the development of this study is due to the keen interest the teachers have taken in this part of their school program.

There are from three to six grades in the different schools. It would be impossible to give each grade a separate drawing lesson so the schools are divided into two classes for this lesson. The first three grades take the same work together while another lesson is given to the upper grades.

The pupils are not only taught how to use their crayons, pencil, brush and paints and with these to make a pretty, artistic picture, but they are taught to observe carefully, and lessons are given which develop the imagination which is a fundamental requisite for a successful life. The drawing lessons also create in the child the habits of order, neatness and accuracy. Emerson said: "Drawing is a good eye for distance and what is wisdom but a good eye for distance."

The supervisors and teachers do not try to make artists out of the children, but they plan the drawing lessons to benefit the child in all his other school work. However, I believe more attention should be given to those pupils who show special interest in the study, for there is a growing demand from manufacturers for skilled designers and artists. The outline of work this year was planned to best meet the needs of the schools. Each school is given the same plan of work but the outline has been modified sometimes to better suit the conditions of the particular school.

More mechanical and constructive work has been given the pupils this year. At Christmas time some very useful and pretty gifts were made in the different schools. Calendars were made in No. 2, No. 3, No. 5, No. 7 and No. 8. Pictures were mounted on prettily decorated mounts in No. 6. Clipping cases were made in the upper grades in No. 4 and letter files in No. 8. Boxes and Christmas cards were made in all the lower grades in each school.

Shapes mean much more than lines to children in the first three grades, so in these grades the children use their scissors more than their pencils. They cut out the shapes instead of drawing them. One lesson which was very successful was the cutting of a fruit dish and making and coloring the different fruits to place inside.

The boys in No. 8 have done good work in manual training when one considers the limited time given to this class and the inadequate supply of tools. They should have more vices and bench tools. Covers were made for the desks in the intermediate grades in No. 8, and there the boys are working at sloyd.

The night school helps the boys very much in their regular lessons in manual training.

Respectfully submitted,

MADELINE NOBLE, Drawing Supervisor.

Every thoughtful person has been careful about fires this year but a few careless ones have caused much loss.

The law in regard to building fires has been violated in only one or two instances of little consequence. Very few asked for permits during the dry season and none were granted then. Damp weather during the open deer season was very fortunate.

Our fires have been caused almost entirely by the railroad, and careless smokers. It seems too bad that large areas of valuable timber must be sacrificed to someones' uncontrolled desire for a whiff of tobacco smoke.

The State Forester continually urges us to purchase a fire-fighting outfit, consisting of a wagon, extinguishers, chemical holders, cans, rakes and shovels. I wish this matter might be discussed fully.

We are still free from gypsy and brow-tail moths; but the chestnut bark disease has attacked several trees in Glendale. Young sprouts are susceptible. Beginning with a brown blister on the bark, it spreads in the cambium layer, killing a tie tree in about three years or less.

HENRY I. EDSON, Forest Warden.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTION.

WILBRAHAM, MARCH 1, 1911.

The Town is required, under the law of the State, to pay tuition for high school instruction for such children as are duly qualified. The following regulations have been adopted:

1. High school instruction at the expense of the Town will be given to such children as pass satisfactorily examinations given by the Superintendent.

2. Children recommended by the Superintendent will be admitted to Springfield High School, Ludlow High School or Wesleyan Academy without further examinations.

MEDICAL INSPECTION.

As Medical Inspector appointed by the School Board, I have visited all the schools three times during the year, that is, each term. At each visit I have separately inspected all pupil in attendance. I found the condition of the children so favorable at those inspections that no reinspection has been necessary. The calls of teachers for special inspections have been but few.

Under the amendment, Acts of 1910, I have examined at the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates' office and my own, all applicants for employment tickets, and have given health certificates to such children as I have found in sufficiently sound health and physically able to perform the work which they intend to do.

H. G. WEBBER, M. D.,
Medical Inspector.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee of Wilbraham.

Madam and Gentlemen:

The report of the schools for the current year is herewith presented.

Last June our schools graduated but one member--a boy,—who entered the Technical high of Springfield in September. We now have four members in Springfield Technical High, one in High School of Commerce, two in Palmer High, five in Ludlow High and twenty in Wesleyan Academy.

A class of eleven in North Wilbraham and another of four members from Springfield street school are now fitting for higher work and we hope to graduate the entire number at the close of the spring term.

At the end of the year our teacher of drawing gave up the position which for two years she had filled so acceptably, and at the same time we parted with our highly esteemed teacher of music, Miss Howard. Late in the summer, Miss Johnson from the primary department of the Springfield street school and Miss Titcomb, principal at North Wilbraham, tendered their resignations. Well-earned advancement to the last-named position was then tendered Miss Morgan, and, by her acceptance a change in the Intermediate room of that building was made imperative. No other changes occured until November, when Miss Mack was forced by serious illness to place a temporary substitute where for several years she had so efficiently served the town. The vacancies have all been filled by excellent teachers, each of whom merits from us the high commendations won in other places.

The work in music has been progressive, following lines prescribed in the Weaver system which has been in use here for a number of years. The course in drawing has varied somewhat, as more industrial work is now everywhere demanded. Interest and constant improvement have been noted.

For some years, the boys of the upper grades in North Wilbraham have worked with carpenters' tools in a basement room shop fitted for that purpose. I think this privilege should now be extended to similar classes on Springfield street and that sewing should be introduced, as a regular feature, in the schools at The Pines.

The buildings are now all supplied with water tanks and "the deadly drinking cup" has disappeared. A sink has been placed in the entry at the Mile tree and the impression, as one enters, is far more pleasing than formerly. This improvement might well be made in the other buildings outside the village.

Because of the hour and the approaching close of the term, the teachers were unable to accept the invitation of the Woman's Club to attend the lecture on "Agriculture in Public Schools," delivered by Professor Hart of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, but the children in North Wilbraham were dismissed for an hour, at the time the cars which were sent out by the college to exhibit results of approved methods passed through that village.

On account of the dryness of the season and earlier prevalence of infantile paralysis it was thought best to decline the invitation and the free tickets to the Palmer Fair. Disappointment and gratification were about equally expressed and if error was made it was certainly made with the good of the children in view.

The evening school closed about the first of April and reopened early in October with a somewhat smaller, but no less interested and enthusiastic attendance. Until Christmas the sewing was taught by Mrs. Perry. Since then it has been under the charge of Miss Baldwin. The total number has been ten. The class in woodwork has enrolled nine boys and has been taught by Mr. Russell Grant of Springfield. Save for the cost of lighting and slight extra heating, the expense has again been borne by a private citizen. The following articles have been made:

By Girls, skirts, stocking bags, skate bags, sofa pillows.

By Boys, pantaloon holders, coat hangers, towel-rollers, knife boxes, tabourettes, sleeve board.

The year has been one of fair improvement. As a rule the pupils have given evidence of increased interest and effort and we have no reason to complain of general carelessness or indifference.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY L. POLAND.

Report of the Supervisor of Music.

Miss Mary L. Poland, Superintendent of Schools:

Any words of commendation regarding the instruction of music in the public schools of Wilbraham under the direction of Miss Mary E. Howard (Mrs. Horace Green) would be superfluous. Her personality and ability are both too well known to require any word of recommendation from me. In succeeding her as Supervisor of Music I found what I expected to find, a well-defined system of instruction, the effectiveness of which is seen in the every-day school singing.

During the current year I have visited the schools every two weeks, and am pleased to state that without exception I have found the teachers cordial, faithful, and untiring in their efforts to obtain the best results with the children in their music. For the number of pupils, Wilbraham has a large percentage of good voices, and in the upper grades especially there is good musical appreciation.

The singing from notes requires great concentration of mind, quickness of vision and activity of brain. The childish imagination is quickened and developed and his power of self-expression greatly increased. In the first three grades we have worked especially for good tone quality. The children have learned many rote songs, thus creating the power of self-expression and at the same time discerning between musical and harsh tones. Thus they learn to sing with a soft quality of voice and with interest and expression.

In the intermediate grades individual sight-singing, written work and ear training characterize the work done. At the same time we have not lost sight of the fact that the song as such is the aim and end of all musical instruction in the school, and that all technical drill should apply directly to it.

In the advanced grades the pupils are expected to recite on all the subject-matter studied in the previous grades, and in addition are required to know the major and minor scales, and to be able to construct them correctly, using any pitch as key note. Also they should be able to sing with words and intelligent interpretation many songs of the best composers.

Respectfully submitted,

PHOEBE HOOPER, Supervisor of Music.

February 20, 1911.

Report of the Supervisor of Drawing.

Miss Mary L. Poland, Superintendent of Schools:

The work in Drawing and Manual training began in the fall with studies of flowers and leaves, and resulted in a very interesting set of nature drawings. Following this work several weeks were spent in constructive work, making boxes, wall pockets, calendars, furniture, log cabins, India tents, and many other Thanksgiving and Christmas souvenirs. These problems all required careful planning and measuring on the part of the child, and thus excellence in constructed objects was developed and true standards of judgment established.

In several of the schools, sand tables have been introduced. These take the place in part of illustrative drawing. There is no better way for the teacher to present salient facts of history, geography, etc., than to have the class work them out with their hands. Ideas grasped in this manner are never forgotten; the interest of the class is increased ten fold: and all the while the pupils are learning to draw in the easiest and most natural manner.

The manual training work at North Wilbraham is still very fascinating and helpful to the boys. They have made pantaloon and coat hangers, plant stands, joints, teapot stands and tabourettes. The work is of a high standard, as only accurate results will be accepted.

In the grammar room on Springfield street the pupils are making a brass desk set. They designed the corners to the blotter first, and this same design will be carried out throughout the set, thus making a very interesting problem.

It is a pleasure to find the subject received with such interest by the teachers and pupils. As a result of careful supervision under the teachers and hard work on the part of the pupils, very creditable results have been achieved.

Respectfully submitted,

MARJORIE FRANCES FLETCHER,

Supervisor of Drawing.

Balance in Bank, $102.54.

Report of Forest Warden.

This town has been very fortunate in regard to fires the past year.

Several fires would have been serious but for prompt work. Getting there quickly means success, and it is our policy to have each section organized so there will be no lost time and no friction. The selectmen have purchased twenty-three extinguishers which have been placed with responsible persons in all sections of the town.

One warden reports the extinguishers disappointing, but others agree that they are very efficient. We very much need galvanized cans for carrying water for recharging.

The Forest Warden is now aided and advised by a State Fire Warden and deputies.

The chestnut bark disease is far beyond control unless some climatic condition aids us. Nearly every chestnut lot in this section is already infected.

We responded to Monson's call for help in a fire near the line with eighteen men. Nearly 700 acres were burned over, much of it valuable wood land.

We would ask that all plan to burn their brush before March 1st, if possible.

HENRY I. EDSON, Forest Warden.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTION.

WILBRAHAM, MARCH 1, 1912.

The Town is required, under the law of the State, to pay tuition for high school instruction for such children as are duly qualified. The following regulations have been adopted:

1. High School instruction at the expense of the Town will be given to such children as pass satisfactory examinations given by the Superintendent.

2. Children recommended by the Superintendent will be admitted to Springfield High School, Ludlow High School or Wesleyan Academy without further examinations.

3. No child shall be recommended by the Superintendent until satisfactorily completing by course or examination the "Course of Study" for the public schools of Wilbraham.

MEDICAL INSPECTION.

As Medical Inspector appointed by the School Board, I have visited all the schools three times during the year, that is, each term. At each visit I have separately inspected all pupils in attendance. I found the condition of the children so favorable at those inspections that no reinspection has been necessary. The calls of teachers for special inspections have been but few.

Under the amendment, Acts of 1910, I have examined at the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates' office and my own, all applicants for employment tickets, and have given health certificates to such children as I have found in sufficiently sound health and physically able to perform the work which they intend to do.

H. G. WEBBER, M. D.,
Medical Inspector.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Committee of Wilbraham.

Madam and Gentlemen: —

At the close of the summer term, June 23, 1911, two pupils were graduated from the ninth grade of No. 4 and 11 from that grade in No. 8. One of the first-mentioned left school to go to work, the other returned to review and fit for recommendation. From the class in North Wilbraham four were recommended to Springfield Technical School, five were admitted on examination, one entered private school and one, who had lost by illness, returned to enter high half a year later. Springfield admits twice in the year—in September and February—and we have one at the "Street" and three in North Wilbraham who will be recommended and probably be in attendance there before this report is published. We are now paying high school tuition as follows:

Springfield Central High,	2		1	1	4
Springfield Technical High,	10	1	1	2	14
Springfield School of Commerce,		2			2
Ludlow High,			2	2	4
Palmer High,		1		1	2

A recent report from Springfield Technical makes this statement: "Present average weekly salary for boys,—none for girls being just now available,—including that of some who took college preparatory course but not the maximum mechanical work:

Graduates of 1911, . .	$11.06.
Graduates of 1903, . .	27.39.
Highest weekly salary reported from any graduate, . . .	$40.75."

The principal of High School of Commerce writes: "The commercial work was organized in 1898 and the first class graduated in 1900, so we have no young men who have been out more than eleven and a half years. We have a good many who are earning from a thousand to twenty-six hundred a year. Young men who graduated last June started on an average of nine dollars a week. The average initial yearly salary for boys has been about four hundred, with an increase of one hundred per year. We can easily place three times as many young men as we graduate every year. Some of the most discriminating business men in the city come to us whenever they have need of young men. Tables of statistics of girl graduates from this school show first-year salaries of about three hundred thirty-seven dollars, with an annual increase of fifty dollars." Statistics from the Central High cannot, of course, be tabulated on a pecuniary basis, but the ethical and spiritual values cannot be over-estimated. While it is true that some people make bad use and some no apparent use of their education, it is also true that the world at present demands, and in the future, to a far greater extent will demand, this training and culture. Certainly as a rule, those who have had the advantages of schooling beyond that of the grades are better fitted for life and more useful to others than are those who, from choice or necessity, have failed to receive this benefit. No sacrifice except of health should be accounted too great a price for such inestimable privilege.

The closing of Wesleyan Academy, in June, 1911, when nine of the town students were graduated, was a distinct loss to the young people of Wilbraham, cutting off for some their only opportunity for continued school work. Great effort should be made to secure admission at the reopening, for there is no other way by which some living in the southern and eastern sections can receive the benefits attainable by those who are nearer the trolley and steam cars, and there are bright boys and girls there who should not lose their chances for as fair a start in life as those in the northern and western parts.

Except in Nos. 1, 3, 5 and 8 primary, the personnel of our teaching force is as last year. Miss Cushman, of Stony Hill, called away by illness in November, is succeeded by Miss Ford, a graduate of North Adams Normal. Miss Rice from the Mile-tree left us to attend Westfield Normal, and Miss Pease, a town's girl and a graduate of the same school, was put in her place. Miss Gibbons of No. 5 and Miss Plummer from North Wilbraham primary both received appointments in Springfield and, entering upon their duties in September, were followed by Misses Curran and Hall, graduates of Westfield and Bridgewater normal schools. Our excellent supervisors of music and drawing were, to our great advantage, both retained and their work has been progressive and satisfactory. We know of no system of teaching music better adapted to our schools than the Weaver method. The children stand and sing alone as readily as they recite in any study and, even in the lowest grades, read at sight in any key. The classes have continued their mechanical, illustrative and object drawing and the boys in the upper grades at North Wilbraham have had a lesson in the shop with their carpenter's tools once every two weeks. In two rooms in this building and one in "The pines," the girls have furnished their own materials and have been taught sewing. This should be done in every grade above the fifth and the wood working should be extended to the boys in the upper classes in the No. 4. At present they cannot use their hands nearly as well as do those in North Wilbraham and it is simply because the latter have had this instruction in school. The basement furnishes the same opportunity and a part of the time given to drawing could wisely be devoted to practice with tools. Miss Fletcher gives weekly lessons in Longmeadow and East Longmeadow, and the results show the decided advantage over our fortnightly ones. May we not ask for an appropriation sufficiently large to cover the expense of this practical instruction in No. 4, and to furnish a lesson every week in each of the two grammar rooms of the town? If the boys ever go to technical schools the knowledge thus gained will be valuable to them, if they never go they will certainly need it. There is much repairing in and around the buildings, which they could do. Under the direction of our supervisor they could have made the storm porches, had they known the necessity in season and it seems that it would be well to avail ourselves of her aid while we have a supervisor who is able to give such instruction.

In a little school in Peru, visited in October, the boys had sheathed three sides of a room, and in Clarksburg they had turned their knowledge of board measure to good use in ordering the lumber for an out-building for which they had drawn the plans, and which they were about to erect. This had been done in school hours and, instead of falling off in their regular studies, they were more alert, more accurate and showed a deeper interest in them.

In the evening school in North Wilbraham the sewing is taught by Miss Baldwin, who reads to the girls as they work. The boys, under the care of Rev. Mr. Williams, are learning the requirements of the Boy Scouts and are evincing great interest in their tasks and sports.

The law of 1911 requires all illiterates employed in factory, workshop, mechanical or mercantile establishment to appear before the superintendent of schools, or some person authorized in writing by the superintendent, that the date, place of birth and a personal description may be recorded. Cards furnished by the district police and approved by the attorney general of the state are made in duplicate, and since the first of October over one hundered and ninety have been thus filled out, chiefly for persons in the employ of the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates. All literate minors between sixteen and twenty-one must also receive certifications from the same source before they can be legally employed in mercantile or manufacturing establishments. No illiterate under sixteen and no one under fourteen may be employed in such work.

Our teachers are fully the equal of those in other towns of similar size and valuation. Some are of exceptional strength and merit and none without professional training or previous experience. The fact that they are frequently called to positions paying higher salaries and that their pupils are received in paralled grades of larger places and admitted, on recommendation, without question, to the best high schools in the state, furnishes evidence of their efficiency. But I am not so sure that the town is receiving full value for the money and effort expended for the support of its schools. Records of health and attendance, deportment and scholarship from the date of entrance till the time of leaving have been kept for the last ten years and are on file for each pupil. These show waste and loss. Under waste are chargeable irregularity, caused by absence, tardiness and mis-behavior, the consequent injury to the punctual and orderly, the additional strain upon the strength of the teacher and the expense of the enforcement of the attendance laws. These the statutes may remedy but the heavy burden of loss is borne by the children who, in time to come, will unavailingly deplore it.

It will be borne in mind that the usual course of study in the grades covers nine years and that while there are some cases of retardation, where a longer period is necessary, and occasional instances where it is accomplished in less, the majority require that length of time to complete the schedule. In 1903 there were 68 in the first grade of the schools of this town. The present ninth grade which should be graduated in June, 1912 — or in the nine years — numbers nine. The four graduating in June increase the number to thirteen. Some have accomplished the work in a shorter time, several were state wards whom we could not expect to retain, others, of whose record we know nothing moved from the town, but after all these reasonable deductions have been made, we have a small per cent of the original number left to take high school work. This may not be worse than in other places but it gives room for the fear that there is lack of appreciation of the superior advantages for higher education made free to every child in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. This schooling is not indeed worth the sacrifice of life or health of parent or child, but it is worth almost any other price and, like everything else of value, it takes full toll. It requires determination and self-denial, but is obtainable by any, who, for the sake of future good, will say no to present pleasure, while generous hearts are open and willing hands held out to those who are willing to work and prove themselves reliable and staunch.

Respectfully submitted,

January 12, 1912. MARY L. POLAND.

Report of the Supervisor of Music.

Miss Mary L. Poland, Superintendent of Schools:

It is with pleasure that I submit the following report of what has been accomplished in music in the Wilbraham schools during the current year, and I wish to express my hearty appreciation of the work done by the teachers in general. There has been marked improvement in the study of music — a willing and enthusiastic spirit among the children.

In the primary grade especially progress consists in doing simple things better, rather than doing more difficult things. The syllables of the scales are learned by singing them over and over until the performance becomes the most natural thing for the child. The same is true of the rote song, the many repetitions enabling the pupil to express his own mood, and thus the song becomes self-expression.

In the intermediate and advanced grades the work has advanced to a stage in its development which calls for greater power and a higher degree of proficiency among the pupils. In these grades the pupils are able to apply their technical knowledge directly to the song in the singing of notes and words individually and in class, which means a knowledge of the fundamental principals of music as expressed in staff notation. The results accomplished during the last year reflect credit upon the teachers.

No study is more dependent upon drill than is music. After the fact has been presented so that the pupil understands it there must be vital practice drill until the application of the knowledge gained gives speed and fluency.

The Weaver System is designed to reach every individual child and expects practically every child to be able to sing and to sing. It develops mental poise, self-control and confidence in the individual.

Respectfully submitted,

PHOEBE HOOPER,

Supervisor of Music.

Report of the Supervisor of Drawing.

Miss Mary L. Poland, Superintendent of Schools, Wilbraham:

It is with pleasure that I submit the following report of the work of the Department of Drawing for the school year of 1911 and 12. Briefly stated one of the fundamental purposes in giving instruction in drawing is to develop ability to make it a common means of expression and to train the taste in the fine and industrial arts.

The work in the primary grades has been divided into the following topics: Illustration and Object Drawing; Nature Work; Paper Folding and Free Hand Cutting. In all of these we have tried to get the children to use their hands a little more readily and to develop a fondness for drawing.

The children in the intermediate grades represented fairly well in their nature work — the growth, proportion and colors of the plant they were studying. In the object drawing emphasis was placed upon correct shape and general proportions. In design we aimed to develop appreciation of well-related spaces. This is a fundamental necessity in matters of taste.

The work in the grammar grades consisted of nature work with (a) brush and ink, to show with as few strokes as possible the growth and indvidual characteristics of the plant; (b) drawing with pencil to show the botanical detail of structure; (c) careful sketches in pencil outline and in water color.

Emphasis in the object drawing was laid upon correctly representing the appearance of the rectangular solids in different positions and grouped in various combinations.

The boys in the grammar grades at No. 8 spent an hour and a quarter every two weeks on wood working in the shop. The girls spent an equal amount of time in sewing. In both of these branches of work we are tending towards a vocational education instead of a solely-cultural one.

I feel that the creditable results which have been obtained are due to the hearty co-operation of the Superintendent and the Committee, to the careful supervision of the teachers and to the hard work on the part of the children.

MARJORIE FRANCES FLETCHER,
Supervisor of the Manual Arts.

Town Warrant.

ARTICLE 1. To choose a Moderator to preside in said meeting.

ART. 2. To hear and act on the reports of the Selectmen, Overseers of the Poor, Treasurer, School Committee and other town officers.

ART. 3. To fix the compensation of the collector of taxes for the ensuing year.

ART. 4. To determine the manner of repairing the highways and bridges for the ensuing year.

ART. 5. To choose a Town Clerk and Treasurer, one Selectman, for three years, who shall be Overseer of the Poor, one Assessor for three years, five Constables, four Fence Viewers, one Auditor for the ensuing year, one School Committee for three years, Collector of Taxes for the ensuing year, one Library Trustee for three years, one Tree Warden for the ensuing year, all on one ballot; also all other town officers. To decide by ballot, which shall be Yes, or No, the question, "Shall license be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this town?"

ART. 6. To raise such sums of money as may be deemed necessary for defraying the expenses of the town for the ensuing year, and appropriate the same, and vote how the same shall be raised.

ART. 7. That the Town Treasurer, with the approval of the Selectmen, be and hereby is authorized to borrow money from time to time in anticipation of taxes of the municipal year beginning March 11, 1912, to an amount not exceeding in the aggregate ($6,000) six thousand dollars, and to issue a note or notes therefor payable in one year, any debt or debts incurred under this vote to be paid from the taxes of said municipal year.

ART. 8. To see if the town will instruct their Selectmen to prosecute any persons selling or transporting intoxicating liquors in this town contrary to the laws of the Commonwealth, or take any action in regard to the same.

ART. 9. To see what disposition the town will make of the dog fund of 1911.

ART. 10. To see if the town will grant money for the proper observance of Memorial Day.

ART. 11. To see if the town will appropriate money for the care and winding of the tower clock in the Memorial church.

ART. 12. To see what action the town will take in regard to its one hundred and fiftieth anniversary in 1913.

ART. 13. To see what action the town will take to encourage the building of an electric railroad from Springfield to North Wilbraham by way of Wilbraham, and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 14. To see what action the town will take in regard to a water supply for this town.

ART. 15. To see if the town will extend the street lights on Springfield street to Cooley's Corner and establish four lights, one at the culvert near Mr. Chase's, one at the fork in the road, one at the bridge over Pole brook and one at Cooley's Corner.

ART. 16. To see if the town will appropriate money to build a vault in the Adams cemetery.

ART. 17. To see if the town will vote to discontinue the road which originally led to Butler's crossing, so called, to the present highway on both sides of the B. and A. R. R. tracks.

ART. 18. To see what action the town will take in regard to establishing an Isolation Hospital.

ART. 19. To see if the town will vote to paint and repair the fences of the cemeteries in town and raise money for the same.

ART. 20. To see if the town will appropriate a sum of money for the suppression of the Gypsy and Brown-tail Moth.

ART. 21. To see if the town will vote to accept Section 21 of Chapter 78, Revised Laws. And authorize the Selectmen to appoint three Commissioners to act for one year.

ART. 22. To see if the town will vote to introduce Manual Training in No. 4. school at a cost not to exceed fifty ($50.00) dollars.
